CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1. Relating to the death of Theodore Roosevelt.

The resolution was read the first time, and, on motion of Mr. Guie, the rules were suspended, the first reading considered the second and third, and was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Conner moved that the message from the Senate, together with Senate Bill No. 264 and the veto message of the Governor covering that bill, be taken from the table.

The motion was seconded by Mr. Guie and carried.

The Governor's veto message and the bill were read by the clerk as follows:

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR,
OLYMPIA, WASH., March 20, 1917.

Honorable I. M. Howell, Secretary of State, Capitol Building.

SIR: I am herewith transmitting to you Senate Bill No. 264, which is "An act defining the crime of criminal syndicalism and prescribing punishment therefor."

As its title indicates, this bill defines the crime of criminal syndicalism and prescribes punishment therefor. By its advocates, it is hoped that its enactment into law will bring about the elimination of the doctrines advocated by the members of an organization known as the Industrial Workers of the World from the State, and makes it a felony to discuss or advocate such doctrines as are outlined and defined in the bill.

If the enactment of a law relating to a special subject, such as that covered in this bill, could carry with it sufficient force to free the State from the disturbing and oftentimes destructive influences of false doctrines, we would indeed be justified in placing such a law on our statute books. I cannot feel, however, that such a law would be of sufficient force to bring about this much desired condition. It seems to me that we will secure more substantial and permanent results by following the course of enforcing the comprehensive laws we now have, against all violators of such laws, rather than by specializing and placing on the statute books a law for the purpose of, by punishments provided in it, endeavoring to crush doctrines, no matter how false such doctrines may be.

Legislation as far reaching in its scope as that intended under Senate Bill No. 264 has never before been attempted in the State. Many persons who are strongly opposed to the I. W. W. teaching, feel that the effect of such legislation on our statute books would be to place in jeopardy the liberty of many citizens regarding whose loyalty to their government and to law and order, there can be no doubt. Is there not a possibility that the enactment of such a law as this would give added force to the arguments that would be made by agitators in behalf of that Constitutional right of free speech? I feel that these agitators would secure a respectful hearing from many good citizens if these citizens should feel that their inherent right of free speech was being curtailed.

While the results desired to be secured, by those who advocate the measure now before me, may be proper in every respect, yet, I cannot feel that these results will be brought about by allowing such a measure as this to become a law. There is more than the enactment of laws necessary to control the feeling of unrest which now exists in this and other States of the Union. There must be a re-awakening to the responsibilities of citizenship and to bring this about the assistance of all good citizens is required. There was never a time in the history of our country when it was more necessary that we should have a united citizenship than today. I cannot feel that the placing of Senate Bill No. 264 on our statute books will be of any assistance in accomplishing such a result.

For the reasons herein given, Senate Bill No. 264 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY,
OLYMPIA, WASH., January 13, 1919.

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives, House Chamber, Olympia, Wash.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit, herewith, pursuant to Section 12, Article 3, of the Constitution of the State of Washington, for the consideration of the House of Representatives the following House bills, passed by the House and Senate, and vetoed by the Governor, together with his veto message attached thereto:

House Bill No. 61,
House Bill No. 178,

[SEAL]

Respectfully submitted,

I. M. HOWELL,

Secretary of State.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR,
OLYMPIA, March 17, 1917.

Honorable I. M. Howell, Secretary of State, Capitol Building.

SIR: I am herewith transmitting to you House Bill No. 61, which bill has today been vetoed by me. It is

"AN ACT to authorize and regulate the practice of chiropractic, to provide for the licensing and examination of chiropractors, to create a state board of examination and registration, to provide for the appointment of same, to establish rules and regulations governing said board, to provide a curriculum, and establish a standard of efficiency, to provide prerequisites and establish a fee for examination, to provide for the disposal of the fund arising from said fee, to regulate the holding of meetings of said board and issuance of license to practice chiropractic, to provide a penalty for practicing chiropractic without a license as provided by this act, and to repeal all acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith."

This is a bill providing for the creation of a state board of chiropractic examiners, fixing license fees and providing for the examination of those desiring to be licensed as chiropractors in the State of Washington.

With the information I have I desire to say that I am opposed to the plan of having a large number of separate boards covering the licensing and examination of those who desire to practice medicine or the art of healing. I believe that the best interests of the people of the state will be protected by placing the licensing and examination of those engaged in the practice of medicine, or the art of healing, in the hands of one board, or if not one board a limited number of boards. The bills considered and passed by the Fifteenth Legislature indicate to me the possibility of having a material increase in future in the number of boards having to do with this subject, should the bills acted favorably upon by the Legislature be enacted into law.

The veto messages placed on Senate Bills No. 201 and No. 42, and House Bill No. 390, show those bills to be interlocked with House Bill No. 61, which is now before me. I respectfully call your attention to those veto messages so that they may be considered in connection with this bill, in so far as the statements made in them refer to the question of legislation covering medical practice and the art of healing.

I desire to add that it is my hope that some plan will be devised for presentation to the next Legislature that will make possible the enactment into law of a measure that will fully cover the questions involved in the matter of this class of legislation.

For the reasons herein given, House Bill No. 61 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

HOUSE BILL NO. 61.

AN ACT to authorize and regulate the practice of chiropractic, to provide for the licensing and examination of chiropractors, to create a state board of examination and registration, to provide for the appointment of same, to establish rules and regulations governing said board, to provide a curriculum, and establish a standard of efficiency, to provide prerequisites and establish a fee for examination, to provide for the disposal of the fund arising from said fee, to regulate the holding of meetings of said board and issuance of license to practice chiropractic, to provide a penalty for practicing chiropractic without a license as provided by this act, and to repeal all acts and parts of act in conflict herewith.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Washington:

SECTION 1. That there is hereby created and established a board to be known by the name and style of the state board of chiropractic examiners, and said board shall be composed of three (3) practicing chiropractors of integrity and ability, who shall be residents of the state for a period of at least one year, and who shall have practiced chiropractic only continually in the state for this same year. No two members of said board shall be graduates from the same school or college of chiropractic.

SEC. 2. The Governor shall within thirty (30) days after the taking effect of this act, appoint three (3) chiropractors, who shall possess the qualifications, specified in Section 1 of this act, to constitute the members of said board. Said members shall be classified by the Governor that the term of office of one shall expire in one year, one in two years, and one in three years from the date of appointment. Annually thereafter the Governor shall appoint one member, who shall be a licensed practitioner and possesses the qualifications specified in Section 1 of this act, to serve for a period of three years and shall fill all vacancies in said board caused by death or otherwise as soon as practicable.

SEC. 3. (a) Said board of chiropractic examiners shall convene within thirty (30) days after their appointment and elect a president, a vice-president, and a secretary-treasurer from their membership.

(b) Said board shall hold regular sessions at such places as the board may decide the first week in January and July, respectively, of each year, and shall publish such dates for examinations and place of meeting in some newspaper of general circulation at least fifteen (15) days prior to said meeting.

(c) Said board shall have authority to administer oaths, take affidavits, summon witnesses and take testimony as to matters pertaining to their duties. They shall adopt a seal, which shall be affixed to all licenses issued by them and shall from time to time adopt such rules and regulations as they deem proper and necessary for the performance of their duties, and they shall adopt a schedule of minimum educational requirements, which shall be without prejudice, partiality or discrimination as to the different schools of chiropractic. The secretary of said board shall at all times keep a record of the proceedings of the board which shall at all times be open to public inspection, and said board shall also keep on file with the Secretary of State a copy of their rules and regulations for public inspection, and shall elect annually a president, vice-president, and a secretary-treasurer. A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum.

(d) No professor or person financially interested in any chiropractic school or college shall be a member of said board.

(e) A license to practice chiropractic within this state shall be issued to the individual members of said board at the first meeting of said board upon payment of the regular fee as provided for in this act.

SEC. 4. It shall be unlawful for any person to practice chiropractic in this state, unless they shall have first obtained a license as provided in this act: Provided, however, That nothing in this act shall apply to or affect any persons who are now actually engaged in the practice of such profession, except as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 5. (a) Any person wishing the right to practice chiropractic in this state, before it shall be lawful for him to do so, shall make application to said board of chiropractic examiners through the secretary-treasurer thereof, upon such form thereof and in such manner as may be adopted and directed by the board at least fifteen (15) days prior to any meeting of said board. Each applicant shall be a graduate of a chartered chiropractic school or college which teaches a course of two years of nine months each or more, or its equivalent, requiring actual attendance in same. Applications shall be in writing and shall be signed by the applicant in his own handwriting and shall be sworn to before some officer authorized to administer oaths, and shall recite the history of the applicant as to his educational advantages, his experience in matters pertaining to a knowledge of the care of the sick, how long he has studied chiropractic, under what teachers, what collateral branches, if any, he has studied, the length of time he has engaged in clinical practice; accompanying the same by reference therein, with any proof thereof in the shape of diplomas, certificates, and shall accompany said application with satisfactory evidence of good character and reputation.

(b) There shall be paid to the secretary-treasurer of the state board of chiropractic examiners by each applicant for a license, a fee of $25.00, ten dollars of which shall accompany application and the remainder, $15.00, shall be paid upon issuance of license. Like fees shall be paid for any subsequent examination and application.

SEC. 6. Examinations for license to practice chiropractic shall be made by said board according to the method deemed by it to be the most practicable and expeditious to test the applicant's qualifications. Such application shall be designated by a number instead of his or her name, so that the identity not be discovered or disclosed to the members of the board until after the examination papers are graded.

(b) All examinations shall be made in writing, the subject of which shall be as follows: Anatomy, physiology, hygiene, symptomology, nerve-tracing, chiropractic-orthopedy, principles of chiropractic and adjusting, as taught by chiropractic schools and colleges. A license shall be granted to all applicants who shall correctly answer seventy-five per centum (75%) of all questions asked, and if any applicant shall fail to answer correctly sixty per centum (60%) of the questions on any branch of said examination, he or she shall not be entitled to a license.

(c) Any chiropractor who has complied with the provisions of this act may adjust by hand any articulation of the spine, but shall not prescribe for or administer to any person any medicine or drugs now or hereafter included in Materia Medica, nor practice obstetrics, nor practice osteopathy or surgery.

SEC. 7. All chiropractors practicing within this state six (6) months prior to the passage of this act and who shall be a graduate of a chartered school or college of chiropractic requiring actual attendance in the same, during his course, shall be granted a license as herein provided, without examination, provided that application be made within sixty (60) days after the taking effect of this act and accompanied by the required fee, as herein provided.

SEC. 8. (a) The state board of chiropractic examiners may refuse to grant or may revoke a license to practice chiropractic in the state or may cause a licentiate's name to be removed from the records in the office of the county clerk of any county in this state upon any of the following grounds, to-wit: The employment of fraud or deception in applying for a license or in passing an examination provided for in this act; the practice of chiropractic under a false or assumed name, or the impersonation of another practitioner of like or different name; the conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude; habitual intemperance in the use of ardent spirits, narcotics or stimulants to such an extent as to incapacitate him or her for the performance of their professional duties, exploiting or advertising through the press, or by the use of handbills, circulars or other periodicals, other than professional cards, giving only name, address, profession, office hours and telephone connections. Any person who is a licentiate, or who is an applicant for a license to practice chiropractic against whom any of the foregoing grounds for revoking or refusing a license, is presented to said board with a view of having the board revoke or refuse to grant a license, shall be furnished with a copy of the complaint, and shall have a hearing before said board in person or by attorney, and witnesses may be examined by said board respecting the guilt or innocence of said accused.

(b) Said board may at any time within two years of the refusal or revocation or cancellation of registration under this section, by a majority vote, issue a new license or grant a license to the person affected, restoring him to, or conferring upon him all the rights and privileges of, and pertaining to the practice of chiropractic as defined and regulated by this act. Any person to whom such have been restored shall pay to the secretary-treasurer the sum of $25.00 upon issuance of a new license.

SEC. 9. (a) Every person who shall receive a license from the state board of chiropractic examiners shall have it recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which he resides and shall likewise have it recorded in the counties to which he shall subsequently remove for the purpose of practicing chiropractic.

(b) The failure or refusal on the part of the holder of a license to have it recorded before he or she shall begin the practice of chiropractic in this state after having been notified by the state board of chiropractic examiners to do so, shall be sufficient grounds to revoke or cancel a license and render it null and void. The county clerk shall keep for public inspection, in a book provided for that purpose, a complete list and description of the licenses recorded by him. When any such license shall be presented to him for record, he shall stamp upon the face thereof his signed memorandum of the date when such license was presented for record.

SEC. 10. All persons practicing chiropractic within this state shall pay on or before the first day of September of each year, after a license is issued to them as herein provided, to said board of chiropractic examiners a renewal license fee of five ($5.00) dollars. The secretary-treasurer shall, thirty (30) days or more before September 1st, of each year, mail to all chiropractors in this state a notice of the fact that the renewal fee will be due on or before the first of September. Nothing in this act shall be construed so as to require that the receipts shall be recorded as original licenses are required to be recorded.

SEC. 11. (a) All examinations and renewal fees received by the state board of chiropractic examiners under this act shall be paid to the secretary-treasurer of said board, who shall on or before the tenth (10) day of the succeeding month deposit the same with the State Treasurer, together with a verified statement showing the sources from which the money was derived.

(b) The secretary-treasurer shall keep a true and accurate account of all funds received and all vouchers issued by the board; and on the first day of December of each year he shall file with the Governor of this state a report of all receipts and disbursements, and the proceedings of said board for the fiscal year.

(c) The members of said board shall receive per diem of five ($5.00) dollars for each day during which they shall be actually engaged in the discharge of their duties in attendance upon the meetings of the board and in going to and returning from the place of meeting, and all necessary expenses incurred in attendance of such meetings.

(d) All such compensation and expenses, and all other expenses incident to the execution of the provisions of this act, shall be paid by warrants drawn by the State Auditor upon the presentation of vouchers to be approved by a majority of the board, as in the case of state officers.

SEC. 12. Chiropractic practitioners shall observe and be subject to all state and municipal regulations relating to the control of contagious and infectious diseases, sign death certificates and any and all matters pertaining to public health, reporting to the proper health officers the same as other practitioners.

SEC. 13. The treasurer of said board shall give bond in such sum and with such sureties as the board may deem proper. Upon sufficient proof to the Governor of the inability or misconduct of a member of the board, said member shall be dismissed and the Governor shall appoint as his successor some licensed chiropractor practicing in this state who shall be a graduate of a different school than those represented on the board.

SEC. 14. Persons licensed to practice chiropractic under the laws of any other state having equal requirements of this state, may, in the discretion of the board, be issued a license to practice in this state without examination, upon payment of the fee of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars as herein provided.

SEC. 15. Any person who shall practice or attempt to practice chiropractic, or any person who shall buy, sell, or fraudulently obtain any diploma or license to practice chiropractic, whether recorded or not, or who shall use the title chiropractor, D. C. Ph. C., or any word or title to induce belief that he is engaged in the practice of chiropractic without first complying with the provisions of this act, or any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and every person filing for record, or attempting to file for record, the certificate issued to another, falsely claiming himself to be the person named in said certificate, or falsely claiming himself to be the person entitled to the same, shall be guilty of a felony. All subsequent offenses shall be punished in like manner. Nothing herein shall be held to apply or to regulate any kind of treatment by prayer: Provided, That on all cards, books, papers, signs or other written or printed means of giving information to the public, used by those licensed by this act to practice chiropractic, the practitioner shall use after or below his name the term chiropractor or D. C. Ph. C. designating his line of drugless practice, and shall not use the word "Doctor," abbreviation "Dr." or the letters M. D. or D. O.

SEC. 16. It shall be the duty of the several prosecuting attorneys of this state to prosecute all persons charged with the violation of any of the provisions of this act. It shall be the duty of the secretary-treasurer of said board, under the direction of said board, to aid said attorneys of this state in the enforcement of this act.

SEC. 17. All acts and parts of acts in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR,
OLYMPIA, March 17, 1919.

Honorable I. M. Howell, Secretary of State, Capitol Building.

SIR: I am herewith transmitting House Bill No. 178, the same having been vetoed by me. This is "AN ACT authorizing, empowering, and limiting cities of the first class to license, for the purpose of revenue, all trades, occupations and callings."

The purpose of the bill appears to be to fix a maximum of not to exceed 1 per cent of the gross income of persons, firms or corporations carrying on such trades, occupations, or callings, by cities of the first class, where such trades, occupations or callings are not exempted by statute from such regulation and taxation. There is a further provision in the bill that this limitation shall not extend or apply to license taxes imposed upon pawnbrokers, auctioneers, peddlers and itinerant vendors of merchandise. Under existing laws such license fees as are intended to be covered under this bill are fixed by the city councils or city commissions of the cities of the first class. Objections to the bill have been filed with me by representatives of most of the cities of the first class in the state.

I have failed to find any indication that there has been an abuse of this power on the part of city authorities to a degree which would call for a limitation statute, such as this is, being placed upon the statute books of the state. I am of the opinion that this class of regulation and taxation is one properly belonging to and which ought to be controlled by city authorities.

For the reasons herein stated, House Bill No. 178 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR,
OLYMPIA, WASH., March 16, 1917.

Honorable I. M. Howell, Secretary of State, Capitol Building

SIR: I am herewith transmitting to you House Bill No. 376. This is "AN ACT providing for the assessment and collection of an annual license tax for dogs, authorizing cities of the first, second or third class to make disposition of the same, creating a fund for the payment of damages for injuries to domestic animals, permitting any amount in such, in excess of two hundred dollars, to be expended for bounties on wild animals, providing for the killing of dogs injuring persons or domestic animals, making the owner or keeper thereof liable for damage for such injury, defining the powers and duties of certain officers and providing penalties for violation thereof."

I have vetoed Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of this bill. Sections 6, 7 and 8 of the bill are approved.

Section 1 provides that the County Assessor of each County shall list and assess a license tax of $1.00 upon all male dogs, and $2.50 upon each female dog, to be collected by the County Treasurer as other taxes are collected, excepting in cities of the first, second and third class.

Section 2 provides for a new fund in the county treasury known as the "Domestic Animal Protection Fund", into which shall be paid the taxes resulting from the enforcement of this Act. It also provides for the issuing of a metal tag by the County Treasurer to the owner of each dog upon which such tax is paid. The excess of any money in this fund over and above $200.00 at the end of the fiscal year may be placed in a "wild animal bounty account" by the County Commissioners to be disbursed as provided in Sections 3587 to 3592, both inclusive, of Remington & Ballinger's Code.

In Section 3 the taxes imposed under this Act are made payable on or before the first day of June in the year in which they are assessed. This section also provides for the destruction by the County Sheriff, of such dogs as do not bear a tag showing the payment of a license tax for the current year, the cost of such destruction to be charged to and paid out of the "Domestic Animal Protection Fund" of the County.

Section 4 provides that each Justice of the Peace shall receive a fee of $3.00 for investigating the killing of any domestic animals by any dog, the same to be paid out of the "Domestic Animal Protection Fund."

Section 5 provides that the owner or keeper of any dog shall be liable to the owner of any animal killed or injured by such dog for the amount of damages sustained and the cost of collection. Where the owner is unknown the damages sustained shall be paid out of the "Domestic Animal Protection Fund" to the amount of such damages sustained, as certified by the Justice of the Peace. The section further provides that any person who shall keep any dog or allow the same to be and remain upon his premises for a period of fifteen days shall be deemed the owner of such dog for the purposes of this section.

It would seem that if this bill were to become a law the County Assessor would have added to his duties the responsibility of assessing and licensing dogs in all parts of his county other than in cities of the first, second and third class. The dog license will not yield, in the aggregate, a sufficient tax to justify the additional work that would be placed upon the Assessor. The enforcement of the provisions of this Act, by the Assessor, would place upon him a responsibility which might tend to decrease his efficiency in the more important matter covered in the assessment of the general property in the county. Dog owners in the rural communities who have kept dogs without paying any tax or license at all times in the past will, without doubt, resent and resist the tax imposed by this bill upon the dog or dogs owned by them.

The keeping of dogs on farms and in rural communities should be encouraged rather than discouraged, for they are kept for a useful and beneficial purpose, such as the protection of livestock and also for the protection of children. Dogs kept on farms are not and cannot be classed as a nuisance in the same way that the same or like dogs might be so classed if kept in cities. The purpose of licensing dogs within cities is twofold, viz.: To make the owner or keeper of a dog more responsible and to limit the number of dogs kept in cities to those that are the property or in charge of some person willing to pay the license tax imposed and to assume responsibility for the acts of such animal if it injures persons or property. The same reasons cannot be advanced for limiting the number of dogs kept on farms for the dog there, like every other domestic animal, has its proper place and is useful, if it be a good dog, not only to its master, but to the entire community in the protection that it affords to life and property. There is an economic reason for keeping the farm dog which cannot ordinarily be claimed for keeping a dog in town. Under the provisions of the first five sections of the bill, added duties are imposed first: upon the County Treasurer for the enforcement of the provisions of the sections and the issuance of a metal tag to the owner of each dog upon which a tax is paid; second: upon the County Sheriff for the collection of delinquent taxes and also the destruction of all dogs for which the current year's license has not been paid. I also find that the Justice of the Peace is given certain responsibilities, for which a fee of $3.00 is provided, in the matter of investigating claims for damages to livestock, which claim or claims may be filed with that official.

After the fees to the Justice of the Peace, the cost of the metal license tag, the additional expense of listing the dogs by the County Assessor, the collecting of the licenses, and the keeping of a new fund in the Treasurer's office are paid, it is very evident that there will be but little, if any fund left to be placed in the "wild animal bounty account" of the county. In fact, I am inclined to the view that there would not be produced a sufficient revenue from the license fees to cover the expense incurred in connection with the carrying out of the provisions of these sections and that a part of the costs incurred would be a charge against the county current expense fund.

The provisions of Section 5 which fixes the ownership of a dog remaining upon a place for a period of fifteen days, upon the owner of such place and makes him responsible for any damage or injury to stock by the dog, which may have made its home on his farm, is placing a responsibility upon an individual which seems to be unfair for if he is not willing to assume this responsibility he must kill the animal in order to insure himself against such claims as might be laid against him.

I cannot find in Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 or 5 any distinctively protective features that would seem to make necessary the enactment into law of such a measure as this. As a producer of revenue there cannot be anything said in its favor. For these reasons Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 of House Bill No. 376, are vetoed.

Sections 6, 7 and 8 of the bill embody protective features of the bill and are worthy of enactment into law, in that they give to a citizen the right to destroy vicious dogs and also make it the "duty of the owner or keeper of any dog found chasing, injuring or biting any domestic animal, or injuring or biting any child or person, to thereafter keep such dog in leash or confined upon the premises of the owner or owners thereof".

Sections 6, 7 and 8 of House Bill No. 376, are approved.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

STATE OF WASHINGTON,

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

I, I. I. M. Howell, Secretary of State of the State of Washington, do hereby certify that the following are full, true and correct copies of Sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 vetoed by the Governor in House Bill No. 376, passed by the Legislature of the State of Washington at its Fifteenth Biennial Session, and filed in the office of the Secretary of State on the 16th day of March, A. D. 1917:

SECTION 1. STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR,
OLYMPIA, WASH., March 17, 1917.

Honorable I. M. Howell, Secretary of State, Capitol Building.

SIR: I am herewith transmitting to you House Bill No. 390, which bill has today been vetoed by me. It is

"AN ACT to regulate the system, method or science of healing known as osteopathy as taught and practiced by graduates of schools of osteopathy and surgery recognized by the Association of Osteopathic Colleges and creating a board of examination and registration for the regulation of the same and providing penalties for the violation of this act and declaring that this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and shall take effect immediately."

On March 2, 1917, I returned to the State Senate, with my disapproval, Senate Bills Numbers 201 and 42. Senate Bill No. 201 was the bill known as the regular medical practitioners' measure and Senate Bill No. 42, as the drugless healer bill. In vetoing these two measures I presented my reasons for so doing. The reasons as given at that time are applicable to the measure I now have before me for consideration. I cannot feel that the proper method necessary to secure permanency, and the best results covering legislation of this character, will be brought about by the enactment into law of this and the other measures covering the same general subject. I feel that the best interests of the people of the State will be protected by also vetoing this measure, in the hope that during the time that will elapse before the next Session of the Legislature is held, it will be possible to decide upon a line of legislation that will better handle and control this matter than would be the case should we have separate boards regulating many lines of medical practice and the art of healing.

In vetoing the bill before me, and also House Bill No. 61, which is also vetoed today, I may say that I do not take this action with the belief that these two schools of practice are not of value, but rather so that legislation may be enacted in future that will better control the situation and protect all of the people of the State.

For the reasons herein given, and also reasons given in my vetoes covering Senate Bills Numbers 201 and 42, insofar as those vetoes are applicable to the bill before me, House Bill No. 390 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

HOUSE BILL NO. 390.

AN ACT to regulate the system, method or science of healing known as osteopathy as taught and practiced by graduates of schools of osteopathy and surgery recognized by the Association of Osteopathic Colleges and creating a board of examination and registration for the regulation of the same and providing penalties for the violation of this act and declaring that this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety and shall take effect immediately.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Washington:

SECTION 1. There is hereby created a board of osteopathic examiners of the State of Washington to consist of five members, who shall be licensed active practitioners of osteopathy in this state. Within thirty days after the passage of this act the Governor shall appoint five members to this board. The Governor shall also have the power to fill any and all vacancies. The appointment of each member shall be for a term of three years, and until his successor is appointed and qualified. It shall require the affirmative vote of the majority of the members of said board to carry any motion or resolution, to adopt any rule, to pass any measure, or to authorize the issuance of any certificate as in this act provided.

SEC. 2. Each member of said board shall before entering upon the duties of his office, take the constitutional oath of office, and shall, in addition, make oath that he is a graduate of a school giving a regular course in osteopathy and surgery and a licensed practitioner of osteopathy of this State. The president and secretary-treasurer shall be empowered to administer the oath of office.

SEC. 3. Said board shall be organized on or before the fifteenth day of June, 1917, by electing from its members a president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer who shall hold their respective positions during the pleasure of said board. Said board shall hold its regular meetings on the first Tuesday of January and July of each year, alternating between the eastern and western part of the State of Washington, excepting that the first meeting shall be held the first Tuesday in August, 1917. Special meetings of the board may be held at such time and place as the board may designate.

SEC. 4. Two forms of certificates shall be issued by said board under the seal thereof, and signed by the president and secretary-treasurer: First, a certificate authorizing the holder thereof to practice osteopathy; second, a certificate authorizing the holder thereof to practice osteopathy and surgery.

In order to procure a certificate to practice osteopathy, the applicant for such certificate must file with said board at least thirty days prior to a regular meeting thereof, satisfactory testimonials of good moral character, and a diploma issued by some legally chartered school of osteopathy and surgery, the requirements of which shall have been at the time of granting such diploma in no particular less than those prescribed by the Association of Osteopathic Colleges for that year, or satisfactory evidence of having possessed such diploma and he must file with such diploma an application sworn to before some person authorized to administer oaths, and attested by the hand and seal of such officer, if he have a seal, stating that he is the person named in said diploma, that he is the lawful holder thereof, and that the same was procured in the regular course of instruction and examination, without fraud or misrepresentation. The said application shall be made upon a blank furnished by said board, and it shall contain such information concerning said medical instruction and the preliminary education of the applicant as said board may by rule provide. Applicants who have failed to meet the requirements must be rejected.

An applicant for a license to practice osteopathy and surgery must furnish evidence that he has served for not less than one year as interne in a thoroughly equipped hospital which shall have at least twenty-five beds for each interne devoted to the treatment of medical, surgical, gynecological and special diseases, and he also must have had a service of six weeks, or the equivalent thereof in the maternity department of the same or some other hospital, during which time he shall have attended or participated in the attendance upon not less than six confinements. He shall furnish evidence that he has had sufficient experience in and a practical working knowledge of pathology, and the administering of anaesthetics: Provided, That when an applicant who has graduated before July, 1917, has not completed one year as interne as above provided, he must furnish evidence that he has been engaged in the active practice of osteopathy for a period of at least two years prior to that date: Provided, further, That any person holding a valid unrevoked certificate to practice osteopathy in the State of Washington who is a graduate of a college recognized by the Association of Osteopathic Colleges and desiring a certificate to practice osteopathy and surgery shall be examined in surgery and the management of surgical cases (including anaesthetics) and be granted said certificate if satisfactorily passing said examination.

SEC. 5. In addition to the requirements above set forth, such applicants for a certificate must be personally examined by said board as to their qualifications. The examination shall be conducted in the English language, shall be practical in character and designed to discover the applicant's fitness to practice osteopathy, and shall be in whole or in part in writing on the following fundamental subjects, to-wit: Anatomy, histology, gynecology, pathology, bacteriology, chemistry, toxicology, physiology, obstetrics, general diagnosis, hygiene, principles and practice of osteopathy and any other branches thereof that the board shall deem advisable: Provided, That those seeking a certificate to practice osteopathy and surgery shall also take an examination in surgery and the management of surgical cases (including anaesthetics) before being granted said certificate. Examination in each subject shall consist of not less than ten questions, answers to which shall be marked upon a scale of zero to ten. All applicants must obtain not less than sixty per cent in any one subject. The examination papers shall form a part of the records of the board and shall be kept on file by the secretary for a period of one year after examination. In said examination the applicant shall be known and designated by number only, and the name attached to the number shall be kept secret until after the board has finally voted upon the application.

SEC. 6. Each applicant on making application shall pay the secretary-treasurer of the board a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25.00) which shall be paid to the State Treasurer by said secretary-treasurer and used to defray the expenses and compensation of said board. In case the applicant's credentials are insufficient, or in case he does not desire to take the examination, the sum of fifteen dollars ($15.00) shall be returned. All persons licensed to practice osteopathy or osteopathy and surgery within this state who are engaged in active practice shall pay on or before the first day of May of each year to the secretary-treasurer of the said board a renewal license fee of five dollars ($5.00), except that the first payment after the passage of this act shall be paid on or before the first day of August, 1917. This fee shall be reduced to two ($2.00) dollars after 1925. Licenses not so renewed will not be valid. The secretary-treasurer shall thirty (30) days or more before May 1st of each year mail to all active practitioners of osteopathy or osteopathy and surgery in this state at their last known address a notice of the fact that the renewal fee will be due on or before the first of May: except that the first notice after the passage of this act shall be sent on or before July 11, 1917. Nothing in this act shall be construed so as to require that the receipt shall be recorded as original licenses are required to be recorded.

All money received or collected by said board or any member or officer thereof, during any month, shall be turned over, before the tenth day of the succeeding month, to the State Treasurer together with a verified statement showing the sources from which such money was derived. The secretary-treasurer of said board shall give surety bond to be approved by and deposited with the auditor of the state, in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1000), the cost of said bond shall be paid by the state.

Each member of said board shall receive a compensation of five dollars ($5.00) per day for each day in which he is actually and necessarily engaged in attendance upon meetings of the board, in going to and returning from the place of meeting, and all necessary expenses incurred in attending such meetings. All such compensation and expenses, and all other expenses incident to the execution of the provisions of this act shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon warrants drawn by the State Auditor upon the presentation of proper vouchers to be approved by a majority of said board, as in the case of state officers: Provided, The expense does not exceed the receipts of said board. The secretary-treasurer of said board shall receive a compensation to be determined by said board not to exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) per annum.

SEC. 7. Said board shall keep an official record of all its proceedings, a part of which record shall consist of a register of all applicants for certificates under this act, with the result of such application. Said record shall be evidence of all the proceedings of said board which are set forth therein.

SEC. 8. Every person holding a certificate authorizing him to practice osteopathy or osteopathy and surgery in this state, must have it recorded in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the holder of said certificate is practicing his profession, and the fact of such recording shall be indorsed on the certificate by the county clerk recording the same. Every such person, on each change of residence, must have the certificate recorded in the county to which he shall have changed his residence. The absence of such record shall be prima facie evidence of the want of possession of such certificate. And any person holding a certificate to practice osteopathy or osteopathy and surgery in this state who shall attempt to practice osteopathy or osteopathy and surgery in this state, without first having filed his certificate with the county clerk as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 9. The county clerk shall keep in a book provided for the purpose, a complete list of the certificates recorded by him, with the date of the record; and said book shall be open to public inspection during his office hours. The county clerk shall forthwith give written notice to the secretary of the board, notifying him of the name of each licensee recorded after this act shall go into effect, together with the date of such recording.

SEC. 10. Said board must refuse a certificate to any applicant guilty of unprofessional conduct; but before such refusal the applicant must be cited by citation, signed by the secretary-treasurer of the board, and sealed with its seal. No such citation shall be issued except upon a sworn complaint filed with the secretary-treasurer of the board, charging the applicant with having been guilty of unprofessional conduct, and setting forth the particular act constituting such unprofessional conduct. On filing of such complaint the secretary-treasurer must forthwith issue a citation and make the same returnable at a regular or special meeting of said board, occurring at least thirty days next after filing the complaint. Such citation shall notify the applicant of the time and place when and where the matter of said unprofessional conduct shall be heard, the particular unprofessional conduct with which the applicant is charged, and that the applicant shall file his written answer, under oath, within twenty days next after service upon him of said citation, or default will be taken against him, and his application for certificate refused. The attendance of witnesses at such hearing shall be compelled by subpoenas issued by the secretary-treasurer of the board under its seal; and said secretary-treasurer shall in no case refuse to issue any such subpoena, upon a fee of twenty cents being paid him for each subpoena. Said citation and said subpoena shall be served in accordance with the statutes of this state then in force as to the service of summons and subpoenas generally and all provisions of the statutes of this state then in force relating to subpoenas are hereby made applicable to the subpoenas provided for herein. If any person refuses to obey a subpoena served upon him in accordance with the statutes of this state then in force providing for the manner of service of subpoenas, the fact of such refusal shall be certified by the secretary-treasurer of said board, under the seal thereof, to the superior court of the county in which the service was had and the said court shall thereupon proceed to hear said matter in accordance with the statutes of this state then in force as to contempt for disobedience of process of the court, and should said court find that the subpoena had been legally served and that the party so served has wilfully disobeyed the same, it shall proceed to impose such penalty as provided in cases of contempt of court. In all cases of alleged unprofessional conduct arising under this act, testimonies of witnesses may be taken, the same as in civil cases, and all the provisions of the statutes of this state then in force as to the taking of testimony are hereby made applicable to the taking of depositions under this section. If the applicant shall fail to file with the secretary-treasurer of said board his answer, under oath, to the charges made against him, within twenty days after service on him of said citation or within such further time as the board may give him, and the charges on their face be deemed sufficient by the board, default shall be entered against him and his application refused. If the charges on their face be deemed sufficient by the board, and issue be joined thereon by answer, the board shall proceed to determine the matter, and to that end shall hear such evidence as may be adduced before it; and if it appear to the satisfaction of the board that the applicant is guilty as charged, no certificate shall be issued to him. No certificate shall be refused on the grounds of unprofessional conduct unless the applicant has been guilty of such conduct within two years next preceding his application. Whenever any holder of a certificate to practice osteopathy or osteopathy and surgery in this state is guilty of unprofessional conduct, as the same is defined in this act, and said unprofessional conduct has been brought to the attention of the board in the manner hereinafter pointed out, or whenever a certificate has been procured by fraud or misrepresentation, or issued by mistake, it shall be their duty to, and they must, revoke the same at once, and the holder of said certificate shall not be permitted to practice osteopathy or osteopathy and surgery in this state. But no revocation shall be made unless such holder is cited to appear and the same proceedings are had as is hereinbefore provided in this section in case of refusal to issue certificates. Said secretary-treasurer in all cases of revocation shall enter on his register the fact of such revocation and shall certify the fact of such revocation under the seal of the board, to the county clerk of each county in which the certificate of the person whose certificate has been revoked is recorded; and said clerk must thereupon write upon the margin or across the face of his register the certificate of such person, the following: "This certificate was revoked on the.....day of,, giving the day, month and year of revocation in accordance with certification to him by the secretary-treasurer. The record of such revocation so made by said county clerk shall be prima facie evidence of the fact thereof, and of the regularity of all the proceedings of said board in the matter of said revocation.

From the time of the revocation of a certificate the holder thereof shall be disqualified from practicing osteopathy or surgery in this state.

$43,700.00

The State Auditor's office is the most important of the state offices having to do with the financial affairs of the state. All vouchers covering expenses against the state for every purpose are filed in this office and the warrants in payment of them issued by the State Auditor. In my message to the Fifteenth Legislature I called attention to the fact that there is no record of an examination of this office having been made since the state was organized, and recommended that an appropriation be made by the Legislature for the examination and checking of this department. A bill was introduced in the House having in view the checking of the Auditor's office. It was impossible to secure action on the bill. On March 7th, after the general appropriation bill had been passed by the Legislature and placed in my hands, I wrote to the chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the State Senate, and also to the chairman of the Appropriations Committee of the House, again urging that an appropriation be made for the checking of the State Auditor's department and suggesting that such an appropriation be placed in the supplemental budget, which was being prepared at that time. In checking over the supplemental budget I fail to find any appropriation for this purpose.

I must take the action of the Legislature, in declining to provide for the checking of the State Auditor's department, when having before it the information that the department had not been checked since statehood, as an indication that the Fifteenth Legislature was not in favor of the expenditure of public funds for this purpose. If it is unnecessary to have a check of the Auditor's office, which is clearly the most important department of the state in the matter of the payment of public funds, it seems to me that I am justified in taking the position that it would be unwise to appropriate $43,700 to be used in checking the other departments of the state.

The items as above enumerated for the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices are therefore vetoed.

FOR THE STATE LAW LIBRARIAN.

Law Librarian$6,000.00

The salaries paid under the present appropriation for the State Law Library are as follows: State Law Librarian, $2,400 a year; Assistant Librarian, $1,200.00 a year; Second Assistant Librarian, $900 a year. A recommendation was made to the State Board of Finance providing that the salary of the State Law Librarian be fixed at $3,000 a year, the salary of the Assistant Librarian at $1,500 a year and the salary of the Second Assistant Librarian at $1,200 a year. The Board of Finance after giving consideration to this recommendation decided that the increases were not necessary and in the budget submitted to the Legislature recommended that the appropriation for these salaries be fixed at the same as the sums now paid. In the Appropriation Bill, which is before me, the three salaries were increased to $3,000 a year, $1,500 a year and $1,200 a year, respectively.

As soon as I had opportunity to note these increases, I took the matter up with the Chairman of the State Senate Appropriations Committee and the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, in a letter dated March 7th, in the following language:

"Under the head of the State Law Librarian's department I find that the salary of the Law Librarian is carried at $6,000 for the two years; one Assistant Law Librarian at $3,000 for the two years and the other Assistant Law Librarian at $2,400. These recommendations were made to the Board of Finance and in considering the budget the Board of Finance fixed the salary at $4,800 for the two years for the Law Librarian, $2,400 for one assistant and $1,800 for the other assistant for the two-year period. These are the same salaries as are now being paid. I am writing to say that if these salaries are placed in the supplemental budget, by the Legislature, at the amounts recommended by the Board of Finance, the items appearing in the Budget Bill now before me will be vetoed."

The suggestion made by me was not acted upon by the Legislature. Since this bill was presented to me I have taken occasion to make even a more careful investigation regarding the Law Library department and fail to find any condition existing that would seem to justify these increases in the salaries of those employed in the department. Nor does there seem to exist the need for the employment of three persons to have charge of the law library. I have therefore vetoed the item of $6,000 ($3,000 a year) for the salary of the Law Librarian and have allowed the salaries of the two assistant law librarians to become operative at the increased amounts fixed for them, by the Legislature. For the operation of this department there is, therefore, provided two persons, one to receive a salary of $1,500 a year and the other to receive a salary of $1,200 a year. I am sure this department can be well conducted by the employment of two persons at the salaries indicated and that the elimination of one person at a salary of $3,000 a year will not result in decreasing the efficiency of the department. I fail to see any reason why the State Law Librarian should receive a salary equal to that paid to the Attorney General of the state, which would be the case were the item for this salary not vetoed by me.

FOR THE BUREAU OF LABOR.

For factory inspection (expenditures for factory inspection not to exceed the collections for same):

Supplies, material and service.....$1,500.00

The reason for this item being vetoed is that for the factory inspection department there are, in the appropriation bill, two appropriations for supplies, material and service, one for $1,500 and the other for $9,265. There is no appropriation whatever in the general appropriation bill, which is before me, for the salaries of the factory inspectors. This condition was called to the attention of the appropriation committees of the Legislature in my letter of March 7th, and an appropriation of $13,500 made in the supplemental appropriation bill, as additional salary of five factory inspectors. The appropriation of $1,500, which is vetoed by me, is undoubtedly a typographical error. I am informed that it was intended that this should be an appropriation for the salary of factory inspectors and that the amount was intended to be $15,000 instead of $1,500, as is carried under the heading of supplies, material and service.

The item is vetoed for the reason that we have a sufficient appropriation for this purpose, and for the further reason that it will probably be necessary, upon the convening of the Legislature of 1919, to appropriate this $1,500, which is improperly appropriated in this bill, so that it may be used for the salaries of the factory inspectors.

FROM THE MILITARY FUND.

Cutter and Malmgren for preparing plans and supervising alteration and reconstruction of a room for the G. A. R.
and company rooms at the State Armory, Spokane.....$250.00

I have taken up the question of this appropriation with the Adjutant General and am informed by him that the services of these architects were voluntarily offered at a meeting attended by him in Spokane, at which the question of these improvements was under discussion. Under date of January 23, 1917, the Adjutant General wrote Cutter and Malmgren regarding the relief bill for $250.00 for services, and, at that time, called their attention to the fact that, based upon 10% of the contract price of the improvements made, they would be entitled to only $135.68. The Adjutant General also called their attention to the fact that there is still an unexpended balance in the appropriation, under which the alterations in question were made, amounting to $143.20, so that if it was desired by the architects to present a bill for services, the bill could be presented in the proper way against the fund in which a balance yet remained, and paid from that fund without the necessity of having a relief bill passed by the Legislature. No answer was received by the Adjutant General to his letter of January 23d. He again wrote Cutter and Malmgren under date of February 21st regarding the same matter and called their attention to the letter of January 23d. To this second letter no reply has been received. The item of $250.00 for the relief of Cutter and Malmgren is vetoed by me. If this firm has a legal claim against the state, there have been and still are funds on hand from which it can be paid, if the claim is presented in proper form to the Adjutant General of the state.

All other items of House Bill No. 393 are approved. I may say, however, in connection with the item reading:

For the relief of C. W. Clausen, for moneys advanced for paying expenses of checking the Industrial Insurance Commission$3,287.51

that $2,759.59 of this amount covers moneys advanced by persons to the State Auditor for the purpose of completing the examination. The balance of this appropriation, which amounts to $527.92, covers the cost of printing 2,000 copies of the report made by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices covering the investigation of the Industrial Insurance department. The following copy of a letter received by me from the State Printer indicates that in paying $527.92 to the Washington Recorder Publishing Company, for 2,000 copies of this report, the cost was $124.34 more than it would have been had the price been figured according to the State Printing Law, which law governs the price received for work by the State Printer:

“Complying with your request I have measured cost of special report on State Industrial Insurance department and find that 2,000 copies, measured according to the State Printing Law, would cost $403.58. The detailed figures are verified and O. K’d. by the state printing expert in the office of the Secretary of State, who measures and audits all accounts for printing against the state.”

Under the Constitutional provision, relating to the action of the Governor on appropriation bills, it is impossible for me to make any reduction in an item appropriated. The entire amount must either be approved or vetoed. If I had the power to reduce an amount I would, in this case, reduce the appropriation covering the sum included for the printing of these reports to an amount equal to what the cost would have been under the prices fixed in the State Printing Law. The State Auditor has the power to make this reduction; I feel that he would be justified in reducing the bill from $527.92 to $403.58.

There are several typographical errors in House Bill No. 393. I do not believe, however, that any of them are of sufficient amount to invalidate the use of the appropriations wherein they occur.

Respectfully submitted,
ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

Mr. Healey requested that House Bill No. 19, introduced by himself, and referred to the Committee on Judiciary by the Speaker, be re-referred to the Committee on Public Morals.

The Speaker stated that, inasmuch as there were legal questions involved which should properly be considered by the Committee on Judiciary, the bill would be referred to that committee, with the understanding that it be re-referred to the Committee on Public Morals after consideration by the Committee on Judiciary.

Mr. Guie moved that the House adjourn until Monday, January 20, 1919, at 11:00 a. m.

Mr. Bassett inquired of the Speaker if an adjournment until the time stated in Mr. Guie's motion would not involve the constitutional liabilities with reference to an adjournment of the House for a period over seventy-two hours.

The Speaker stated that under the statute the first day is excluded and the last day included; that the fraction of a day could not be counted, and that, therefore, he would hold that the adjournment moved by Mr. Guie would not be contrary to the constitutional limitation.

The motion to adjourn was unanimously carried.

FRED A. ADAMS, Speaker.

C. R. MAYBURY, Chief Clerk.

The resolution was read the second time in full by the clerk.

On motion of Mr. Allen, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the resolution was placed on final passage.

Prior to the calling of the roll, Messrs. Gellatly and Sawyer sent to the desk the following explanations of their vote to be spread upon the journal of the House:

MR. SAWYER: No man in this House can feel more deeply our obligation to the soldiers and sailors who have worked for practically nothing, and risked their lives for the good of their country than I do. I feel that it will not be possible to pay with money for these services, and the reason why I oppose this particular measure is that I feel that to turn these boys out, after the three years of privations and restrictions under which they have lived, with three hundred dollars of cash in their pockets at the same time that they are relieved from all discipline would necessarily result in a net loss and injury to so large a proportion of them, that it would be an extremely unwise thing to do.

MR. GELLATLY: Referring to my negative vote on Joint Senate Resolution No. 3, I beg to state that I opposed it for the reason that the same does not adequately meet the situation.

I care but little about the money involved but contend that it should be given or distributed to the men who need assistance, no matter whether the sum be one dollar or a thousand dollars each.

The man who has made a financial sacrifice in excess of his ability, or the man who was wounded, should receive consideration and be given unstinted remuneration commensurate with his sacrifice.

This resolution under its blanket terms contributes to millions of men who do not need this money, who do not want the money and who were glad of the opportunity to offer their services, and if need be, their lives in behalf of the world fight for liberty.

It is my opinion that those who sacrificed the most in this war are the proudest men of all—and they are not seeking charity in any form.

The greatest reward for sacrifice is the consciousness of service, and this resolution is opposed on my part on behalf of the boys themselves.

The clerk called the roll, and Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 passed the House by the following vote: Yeas, 84; nays, 2; absent or not voting, 11.

Those voting yea were: Representatives Adams (Wm. H.), Adamson, Allen, Anderson (John), Anguish, Aspinwall, Atkinson, Babcock, Banker, Bassett, Bohlke, Brown, Cantonwine, Coleman, Cross, Cotterill, Davis, Dollar, Elliott, Fawley, Fulton, Gardner, Gilbert, Girard, Grass, Guie, Harrison, Haskell, Healey, Hodgdon, Hubbell, Hufford, Hull, Jones (James T.), Jones (Roy), Kelly, Kennedy, Kirkman, Kulzer, Ledgerwood, Locke, Long, Lucas, Lunn, Manogue, Mansfield, McCoy, McMillen, Mess, Moores, Morris, Myers, Nash, Nelson, Norman, Olsen, Pease, Qualheim, Reed, Remann, Roth, Ryan, Sanger, Shattuck, Shields, Short, Siler, Smith (Fred A.), Spencer, Stratton, Swofford, Teter, Thomas, Thompson (G. MR. SPEAKER:

VICTOR ZEDNICK,
Secretary of the Senate.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour having arrived, the House took up the consideration of Senate Bill No. 194, vetoed by the Governor.

The Governor's veto message and Senate Bill No. 194 were read by the clerk as follows:

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR.
OLYMPIA, March 17, 1917.

Honorable I. M. Howell, Secretary of State, Capitol Building.

SIR: I am herewith transmitting to you Senate Bill No. 194, this bill having been vetoed by me. The title of the bill is

"AN ACT relating to, and authorizing, the ratification and validation of certain claims, contracts and obligations on the part of cities of the third class, contracted, allowed or otherwise incurred by the city councils thereof, and invalid or void because contracted, allowed or otherwise incurred in violation of the provisions of Section 7702 or Section 7694 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington."

A careful consideration of this bill indicates that it is intended to authorize the city council of any city of the third class in the state, by a unanimous vote of the members of the city council, to ratify and validate, by resolution, all illegal claims or obligations contracted or incurred by the city council of any such city between the first day of January, 1913, and the 20th day of March, 1915, and specifically states that it is for the purpose of making possible the payment of claims invalid or void because contracted, allowed or otherwise incurred by the city council of any such city in violation of the provisions of Sections 7702 or 7694 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington. The bill also makes it lawful for, and the duty of, the treasurer of any such city to pay all warrants ordered issued under the terms and provisions of this act.

Section 7702 of Remington & Ballinger's Code provides that "no officer of such city shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract with such city, or with any of the officers thereof, in their official capacity, or in doing any work or furnishing any supplies for the use of such city or its officers in their official capacity." It further provides that any claims for compensation for work done or supplies furnished, in which any such officer is interested, shall be void. Another provision of this section is as follows: "Any willful violation of the provisions of this section shall be a ground for removal from office, and shall be deemed a misdemeanor, and punished as such."

Section 7694 provides that "in the erection, improvement and repair of all public buildings and works, in all street and sewer work," etc., when the expenditure required exceeds the sum of $500.00 the same shall be done by contract and let to the lowest responsible bidder, after due notice.

In considering this bill, I, therefore, find that it is intended to validate and make possible the payment of claims, by any city of the third class, where such claims have been contracted in violation of either Section 7702 or Section 7694 of Remington & Ballinger's Code during the time between the first day of January, 1913, and the twentieth day of March, 1915. Upon its face it appears to be vicious legislation and would establish a precedent that may not only lead to all kinds of difficulty in the future, but is a direct invitation to public officers to violate the plain provisions of the statute. Whether or not the violation of the law in the instance or instances intended to be covered by Senate Bill No. 194 was knowingly done is, it seems to me, immaterial in considering the bill, as the city officers are presumed to know the law under which they are operating.

I may also say the approval of this measure would make possible the validation of illegal claims of this nature incurred by cities of the third class, between January 1, 1913, and March 20, 1915, by an unanimous vote of the city council or councils of such cities. Were I to approve this measure it might result in giving executive sanction to the validation of hundreds of warrants or claims regarding which I have no knowledge whatever. The enactment into law of Senate Bill No. 194 would result in opening the door, not only to the payment of illegal claims contracted during the period fixed in this bill, but would also be establishing a precedent that would probably result in each succeeding Legislature having presented to it a measure or measures calling for the further validation of illegal claims, which would be, in my opinion, the fixing of a most dangerous precedent.

In the case of Northport v. Northport Townsite Company, 27 Washington, page 543, the court having under consideration Section 968 of Ballinger's Code, which is the same as Section 7702 mentioned in the bill before me, the court, in holding that the member of the council was beneficially interested in a certain contract and hence that the contract was void, said:

"Long experience has taught lawmakers and courts the innumerable and insidious evasions of this salutary principle that can be made, and therefore the statute denounces such a contract if a city officer shall be interested not only directly, but indirectly. However devious and winding the chain may be which connects the officer with the forbidden contract, if it can be followed and the connection made, the contract is void."

In the case covered by the decision from which the above language is quoted, no collusion or fraud was alleged and it was admitted that the purchase was made in good faith.

For the reasons herein given Senate Bill No. 194 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

SENATE BILL NO. 194.

AN ACT relating to, and authorizing, the ratification and validation of certain claims, contracts and obligations on the part of cities of the third class, contracted, allowed or otherwise incurred by the city councils thereof, and invalid or void because contracted, allowed or otherwise incurred in violation of the provisions of Section 7702 or Section 7694 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Washington:

SECTION 1. That from and after the passage of this act the city council of any city of the third class in this state shall have the power, and it shall be lawful for it, by a unanimous vote of all the members thereof, to ratify and validate by resolution to that effect, all claims or obligations contracted or otherwise incurred by the city council of any such city at any time between the 1st day of January, 1913, and the 20th day of March, 1915, and invalid or void because contracted, allowed or otherwise incurred by the city council of any such city in violation of the provisions of Section 7702 or Section 7694 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington, and order the same paid and direct the issuance of warrants therefor, and it shall be lawful for, and the duty of, the treasurer of any such city to pay all warrants ordered issued by the city council of any such city under the terms and provisions of this act.

The clerk read the following:

LEAGUE TO ENFORCE PEACE.

January 22, 1919.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Olympia, Washington.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: The League to Enforce Peace begs you in its behalf to extend an invitation to the House of Representatives of Washington to appoint a committee to attend the sessions of the Northwestern Congress for a League of Nations that will meet in Portland, Oregon, February 16th and 17th, 1919; registration headquarters, Multnomah Hotel.

Attached hereto is a letter setting forth the necessity and purposes of the Congress and signed by members of the General Committee on Invitation. A tentative program of the Congress is also enclosed.

We respectfully urge, as the justification of the invitation, the great importance both for America and the world of the project for the establishment of a League of Nations that will be considered at the Congress.

Very truly yours,

LEAGUE TO ENFORCE PEACE.

Wm. H. Taft, J. W. Gerard, Myron T. Herrick, Alton B. Parker, Arthur Capper, Committee on Legislative Invitations.

LEAGUE TO ENFORCE PEACE.

January 20th, 1919.

Will you help in this greatest crisis of history to marshal public opinion behind America's real purpose in the war?

Agreements made at the Peace Conference will, for generations to come, vitally affect for good or ill the economic, political and moral well-being of mankind. The creation there of a League of Free Nations can alone insure the orderly development of the world and preserve peace. To get such a league President Wilson wisely decided, by personal attendance, to throw his great influence on the side of an unselfish and righteous peace, with a League of Nations to safeguard it perpetually.

The series of nine Congresses for a League of Nations, to one of which you are herewith invited, will give opportunity for those who won the war, both on and behind the fighting line, to speak their wishes. Agreement at Paris and ratification by the Senate may depend on the size and temper of these Congresses and the carrying out in the States of the plan of action they adopt.

Very truly yours,

WM. H. TAFT

J. Card. Gibbons, Lyman Abbott, Alton B. Parker, A. Lawrence Lowell, Myron Smith, Seward Powers, Eva Perry-Moore, Anna H. Shaw, R. G. Shelt, Charles S. Macfarland, Oliver Wilson, Cyrus H. McCormick, Robert E. Speer, J. R. Mott, John Sharp Williams, Robt. L. Manning, Arthur Capper, Samuel Gompers, Frank W. Lamont, Edward A. Filene, Charles Mathews, Harry A. Wheeler, Norman Hapgood, John H. Fahey.

Mr. Allen moved that the invitation be accepted.

Mr. Davis moved as a substitute that the invitation be referred to the Committee on Memorials.

The substitute motion was carried.

On motion of Mr. Smith (Fred A.), 1,000 extra copies of House Bill No. 78 were ordered printed.

The following communication was read by the clerk:

RESOLUTION.

BY THE COUNCIL.

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Tacoma:

That the following communication be forwarded to the Legislature of the State of Washington:

To the Members of the State Legislature:

By an act of the Legislature passed in 1890, any city then or thereafter having a population of 20,000 or more inhabitants was permitted to frame a charter for its own government.

The act conferred power upon such cities, "To authorize or prohibit the locating and constructing of any railroad or street railroad in any street, alley or public place in such city and to prescribe the terms and conditions upon which any such railroad or street railroad shall be located or constructed."

Under this law the City of Tacoma adopted a charter by a vote of its people and under this law street railway companies have applied for franchises. The franchises were granted and the terms and conditions upon which the companies were permitted to occupy and use the city streets were set forth therein.

The street railway companies some two years ago petitioned the public service commission to set aside and annul the provisions of these franchise—contracts. In various forms the litigation was continued until a short time ago. The supreme court of the state held that the commission had no power to interfere with the obligations and conditions imposed in these franchises.

The street railway companies have not been slow in making their present wishes known. Before the election, at the election, and since the election, and now at Olympia they have been on the job "to protect their interests." How far their influence has been persuasive remains to be demonstrated. Just now the people of the state are looking on. They are seeing as "through a glass darkly." In a few days when pending measures come to a vote the situation will be fully revealed.

The law under which cities of the first class were organized, recognized the use of their streets and the fixing of terms and conditions of occupancy, and use, to be local problems settled by the people themselves. After the terms have been fixed, accepted and acted upon, it is suddenly discovered, judging from the arguments advanced, that the municipalities are not only incompetent to handle their own affairs but that contracts valid when made and acted upon for a period of years should no longer be binding upon at least one of the parties to the agreement and should be set aside without the consent of the other party to the contract.

A guardian is sought for these governments which are assumed to be still in swaddling clothes although they have been growing for more than a quarter of a century and now comprise a very large part of the population and wealth of the state.

We are not in accord with these views. These cities, in spite of the assumption to the contrary, require policies as wise, men as intelligent, and service as disinterested, as can be commanded by the state itself, and yet if the street railway companies have their way the legislature will confer upon a three man commission the power to say whether the cities can make a binding contract in relation to one of the most important subjects of municipal government.

You may suggest that the City of Tacoma modified its own contracts. Temporarily, yes. As a war measure, yes. As a patriotic service demanded by the government, yes. But the same party which consented to a temporary modification of the contracts can reinstate them again without asking any commission at Olympia for permission, unless the legislature decides that the day of local government is at an end.

Against such a policy the city council of the City of Tacoma enters a most vigorous protest. We are not willing to admit that cities of 100,000, 200,000, or 300,000 people shall exist only in name and that their most important functions shall be supervised and controlled by commissions sitting at the capital of the state. The whole policy of local self-government is involved in the legislation now pending. If enacted it is but another rung in the ladder upon which have been carried beyond the reach of the people some of the most important functions of municipal government. The statute books are filled with legislation providing for appointive commissions and vast appropriations have been made to support them. State affairs, county affairs, and city affairs have been managed by appointive commissions until now rumbles of discontent can be heard from every quarter of the state. Still the process continues and the present legislature is asked to go still further in the limitation of municipal power.

Where is the interference with municipal self government to end? The decision just now rests with you. In the end it will rest with the people by direct vote if those elected to represent them fail to protect their interests. We think we are justified in requesting you to give our municipal problems most serious consideration before these measures go to a vote, and it is with this end in view that the foregoing statement is respectfully submitted.

C. M. RIDDELL, Mayor.
H. PETTIT
H. ROY HARRISON
IRA S. DAVISSON
F. SHOEMAKER

Attest: BLANCHE FUNK MILLER, City Clerk.

On motion of Mr. Roth, the resolution was referred to the Committee on Public Utilities.

Prayer was offered by Rev. John Henry Secor.

The President announced that the memorial services were a mark of respect to the memories of former legislators who had passed to their reward since the preceding session.

Mr. Guie delivered an eulogy on the life of John R. Wilson, as follows:

The achievements of Lincoln and many of our early statesmen are based upon the memory of their struggles to rise above an unadorned life of humble origin. These men whom we so hold in veneration existed at a time when conditions were primitive and when the people were mostly lovers of the land, supporting themselves from the soil, and at a time when the needs of life were less complex and when straitened circumstances were not so obtrusive as might be expected today or during the early life of the subject of this memorial.

The life of Representative John R. Wilson, with its self-denial, the ever-present desire to learn, advance, build character and achieve success is parallel to the early efforts, struggles and conscientiousness of purpose history tells us were evinced by the most successful of our democratic productions, and his life is just as worthy of emulation by our American youth.

Mr. Wilson's ancestors on his father's side came from Antrim county, Ireland. They settled in Canada. His mother's surname was Scott, a niece of General Winfield Scott of Mexican war fame. John R. Wilson was born in Forrest, Ontario, in 1869. Three years afterwards his family moved with him to Saginaw, Michigan. There was a large family, consisting of nine boys and one girl. Necessity demanded that, when but 11 years old, he should begin life's battle for existence for himself and to aid in the support of the family. In his early youth he attended schools as best he could. The germ of his future character was early apparent. He was a shingle weaver. He wanted to be a lawyer. He was permitted to register as a law student. At night he would take Blackstone and block out his studies and reading in advance. He had them so arranged by copying the lectures or the portions needed on sheets of paper, which he would tack up before him over his shingle weaving machine, and when time permitted during a lull in his work he would read and study the top sheet until learned and the sheet would be then torn off for the next one. It was under such difficulties that he pursued his study of the law, and which were more arduous than Lincoln's lucubrations by the flare of the pine knot in front of the fireplace. After thus working along he attended a commercial college at St. Louis, Michigan, and graduated therefrom in 1892. After his graduation he was admitted to the bar of Michigan. He then married Frances Burgess, now his widow. After being married one and a half years his wife told me she heard him try a case and she realized that this striving young husband needed the training and finish of a law school. At her instigation and upon her advice he went to the University of Michigan and graduated from the law department in 1901, a well trained and well equipped lawyer. He was city clerk of St. Louis, Michigan, for two terms and afterwards city attorney for two terms. He was also the circuit court commissioner of Gratiot county, Michigan, for five years, resigning that office in 1903 to go to Seattle. He immediately engaged in the practice of law and continued in the practice up until his untimely end after the close of the last session of the Legislature. He served as my colleague from the Forty-seventh Representative District from Seattle in the 1915 and 1917 sessions of the Legislature. He who served with him during those two sessions knows of his earnestness of purpose and the faithful manner in which he performed his duties. It is said that the arduous work imposed upon him as chairman of the Judiciary Committee, coupled with an intense desire to facilitate the work of that committee, contributed to his early demise. He was stricken while making an address to the Seattle Rotary Club.

Mr. Wilson was a Scottish Rite Mason, thirty-second degree, a Knight Templar, and for twenty-five years he was an officer of one kind or another in the Masonic order. Shriner, Knight of Pythias, member of St. Mark's Episcopal Church of Seattle. We have referred to his marriage. There are also two daughters surviving, Virginia and Beatrice, who now live with their mother. His domestic life was ideal. The community has lost a good man, a patriotic citizen and statesman.

Mr. Kulzer delivered the following eulogy on the life of Mr. R. A. Thayer:

R. A. Thayer, one of the most widely known men in the public life of Stevens county, died at his home in Colville, on the morning of December 2, following an attack of influenza.

Mr. Thayer was a native of Indiana, forty-two years of age, and came with his parents to the State of Washington some twenty-five years ago. After completing the high school course Mr. Thayer taught school for a number of years and was later deputy county assessor of Stevens county. In 1903 he graduated from the law department of the University of Washington and began the practice of law in Colville, which profession he followed in that place up to the time of his death.

Mr. Thayer was a member of the House of Representatives of the State Legislature in the year 1909, taking an active part in this work. He was prominent in the political life of Stevens county at all times, at the time of his death serving as deputy prosecuting attorney.

Mr. Thayer is survived by his widow and one son twelve years of age, living at Colville, as well as by his mother, five sisters and four brothers, all of whom claim Chewelah as their home.

"Bob" Thayer, as he was best known, enjoyed a large acquaintance throughout the county and state, and left many warm friends who were deeply sorrowful at the knowledge of his passing on. He was kind-hearted, generous to a large extent and a friend to the poor and unfortunate. His passing on leaves a niche in Stevens county which will be hard to fill.

Mr. Anderson spoke on the life of C. W. McCall, as follows:

C. W. McCall was born in Illinois, January 17, 1860. He crossed the plains to Oregon with his parents, when a small boy, and came to this state in 1897.

He was a successful farmer, belonged to the I. O. O. F. and the Farmers' Union, and served a number of years as school director.

C. W. McCall was sent to the fifteenth session of the Washington State Legislature by the people of the Eighth Representative District. His friends and the people of the Eighth District were well pleased with his services, and were looking anxiously forward for the time to come to send him back to the Legislature, but were disappointed in this on account of his sudden death, which occurred April 20, 1918.

The funeral services were held at the Garfield Methodist Church, of which he was a member. There was a large attendance, and the floral offerings were many and beautiful. The funeral sermon was delivered by Dr. M. L. Sanders, of Sandpoint, Idaho. Out of respect to the departed, the business houses were closed, school dismissed, and the school flag was placed at half-mast. The impressiveness of the service was added to by the attendance of the local lodge of Odd Fellows in a body. Interment was made at the Garfield cemetery, which lies in sight of the McCall home.

On March 25, 1888, he was married to Miss Emma Gillam. To this union five children were born, who, with his wife and two sisters and a host of friends, remain to mourn his departure.

Mr. A. A. Kelly spoke as follows:

The Honorable Charles Timblin of Spokane, Third District, was a native of Pennsylvania. He died at Spokane in the year 1917—was forty-five years of age. He was principal of a higher institution of learning in Klickitat county for many years. His achievement and wonderful success as an educator directed the attention of our State College and soon he became professor of mathematics, followed by his selection as one of the faculty. The business life of Eastern Washington was attracted by his exceptional ability, his wonderful and enduring energy, resulting in a substantial offer, which was accepted, in his chosen field of life insurance. His company, recognizing his ambition to aid his fellow-man, placed him second only to the president in one of the largest institutions of its kind in the state. The Legislature of the 1915 session named him as one of the committee to survey the higher educational conditions of the state, for which he was eminently fitted because of his long and successful experience.

A loving wife and two dutiful children survive him, together with a host of very intimate friends who share the loss of the bereaved family.

His active business and social life is worthy of the emulation of all as it inspired his associates.

Speaker Fred A. Adams spoke in memory of the late L. Frank Boyd:

Sweet is the memory of distant friends!
Like the mellow rays of the departing sun,
It falls tenderly, yet sadly, on the heart.

—Washington Irving.

In the departure of L. Frank Boyd, former mayor of Spokane and member of the House of Representatives, the state has lost, not only a faithful servant but a man whose friendship was valued by his fellow-citizens and by the members of the House of Representatives of the State of Washington. As a servant to the people in helping to mould public opinion as a newspaper man, he did as valuable work as he did in the legislative halls of the state. The members of the House and especially those members in his own delegation, prized the friendship of Mr. Boyd, not only because of the loyalty of that friendship, but because it was given in whole soul and in the warmest manner. Mr. Boyd was not only a deserving public servant, but was a lover of Nature in all its forms. His quiet hours of recreation were spent in the fields, where he lived with God's creatures in sympathetic companionship. Although we mourn his loss, I am sure the members of the House feel that he is gone to a resting-place where his rewards are greater than those which could be given by his fellow-men.

We say it for an hour or for years,
We say it smiling,
We say it choked with tears,
We say it sadly, say it with a kiss,
And yet we have no other word than this:
"Good-bye."

An eulogy on the life of R. B. Albertson was delivered by Mr. Hull, as follows:

The subject of this sketch, Judge Robert Brooks Albertson, first saw the light of day at Hartford, in the State of North Carolina, during the rebellious times of 1860.

In this state he grew into manhood, acquiring his early education here, and finishing by graduating from the state university.

In the spring of 1883, he came west, locating in the city of Seattle, Washington, where for a short time he engaged in newspaper work, after which he entered upon the practice of his profession, law. He was twice elected to represent the people of his district in the State Legislature, and in his second term, 1901, he was accorded the highest honor that could be conferred by that body by being chosen Speaker of the House of Representatives for that session.

In 1903 he was appointed by the Governor of the state one of the judges of the superior court in and for King county, a position which he continued to fill with great credit until his death, at the age of fifty-seven years, which occurred in October, 1917.

Mr. Sawyer spoke as follows.

Andrew Jackson Splawn was one of the outstanding figures of Central Washington. He was born in the State of Missouri, in the year 1845, and came with his parents to the Territory of Oregon in his early childhood. When not more than sixteen years old he came, with some older brothers, to the Yakima valley of this state, where the whole of his most active life, which ended March 2, 1917, was spent.

Wholly without schooling, he became one of the most successful, prominent and useful citizens of the State of Washington, finishing his worldly career as author of an exceedingly valuable and interesting historical work, covering the early history of this state. "Kamiakin" is a work of literary as well as historical worth and shows the versatility and character of the man. He was broad and big in every way. Early in his life he became very prominent as a stock raiser, in which activity he continued to be a leader throughout his lifetime.

The dominant trait of the character of this extraordinary man was that of absolute honesty. No engagement made by "Jack" Splawn could ever be questioned. He was always deeply interested and very active in every public matter, including politics, in which he attained prominence throughout the state. He was an uncompromising democrat, but in the year 1902 was elected to represent his district, which was overwhelmingly republican, in the state Senate, where he served his constituents with marked ability and signal success, and was held in the highest esteem by every member of that body. He was utterly fearless in his actions, and ever stood like a rock for what he conceived to be right and for the good of the state and his community, regardless of any odds that might be opposed to him.

At the first primary election held in the state in the year 1908, the democratic party placed him in nomination for Governor and he received a remarkably large vote, but not quite sufficient to elect him. He was elected to numerous local offices, serving several times as mayor of the city of North Yakima.

In his nature, he was generous to a fault and was known and loved by more people in the State of Washington than any other man that I know.

Starting upon his career with unbounded contempt for the Indian, he learned through extended intercourse with them to understand them and to appreciate the wrongs they had suffered at the hands of the white men, and became their best friend and most potent protector against wily schemes of the unscrupulous to practice further impositions upon them. Every Indian on the Yakima reservation went to "Jack" for protection and advice and he always had time to listen to them. Not one was ever turned down or betrayed, and his suggestions were uniformly accepted by them, in implicit faith and confidence.

I feel that this big, broad-minded and generous man was Yakima's most useful citizen, and in his untimely death the city of Yakima and the State of Washington suffered a great and irretrievable loss.

Senator Groff delivered an eulogy on the life of J. M. Stevenson as follows:

An occasion such as this should and does make a deep impression on our hearts. We cherish the memory of our associates, and I deem it a special privilege to say a few words in remembrance of my associate, John Momen Stevenson.

Your all are more or less familiar with Senator Stevenson's record as a legislator, he having served in the House several terms and one term in the Senate. His purposes were high. He was a clear thinker and he was a great advocate of public welfare.

The particular thing in which he was interested, which has now become of most vital interest to all of us, was his clear vision upon the good roads question. He, as you all know, was a good roads enthusiast and was the man who did more than any other in having State Road No. 8 put upon the map. This will be the only road when completed that will enable the people of Eastern Washington to come to Western Washington by automobile during the entire year, and will afford a scenic route for about one hundred miles along the Columbia river that will be equaled by few and surpassed by none. At the present time there is no one thing that has more direct bearing on our future civilization than good roads, and Momen Stevenson did have the advanced foresight as to what wonderful good he could render to the future people of this state. The automobile is comparatively new and the auto truck has nearly completely revolutionized our method of transportation and it is destined to become a great factor in our economic life. As a good roads enthusiast, Momen Stevenson saw these changes coming and wanted the state to be in a position to take care of them.

John Momen Stevenson was born in Iron county, Missouri, October 1, 1872. He is descended from a family of legislators, his father having represented the State of Missouri in the legislature for several sessions. He died shortly after the 1917 session. He was ill during the entire of it and was unable to attend. Although only a little past forty-five years of age, he had had much to do with the public affairs of this commonwealth. He served several terms as a member of the House and one term as a State Senator. He came to this country as a boy, settling first in Colfax. George H. Stevenson, who survives him, who likewise has taken a prominent part in the history of this state, in the early 90's embarked in the fish industry along the Columbia river, and Momen became associated with him in the industry and they owned and controlled a large number of fish wheels along the river.

Senator Stevenson married Miss Minnie Jones, who still survives him.

Momen Stevenson was well known throughout the state. He was a good legislator and no one needed to ask where he stood on any question. Everybody who knew him was his friend. Although still a young man to be called away, after all it is not so important as to the length of time we serve as the things we do in the time allotted to us. Man is of a few days and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower and is cut down and wasteth away. But who can say our former honored member did not accomplish great good and leave a lasting influence for good among his friends the short time he was permitted to be with us. There is one thing that will live after him. That is his high purpose for the public welfare, and especially the interest he took and from which we can learn the much-needed example—the development of our great state highways.

Senator Renick spoke on the life of Lincoln Davis as follows:

Mr. President and members of the joint session: My sentiments on an occasion of this kind do not find ready expression in words, and I keenly feel my inability to pay a really fitting tribute to the memory of Lincoln Davis.

During his lifetime I had the pleasure of an intimate acquaintance with Senator Lincoln Davis and, since he has left us, the district he represented so worthily has paid me the honor of being his successor. I esteem it a privilege to be permitted to pay a tribute to the memory of Senator Davis, and I thank the committee that has given me a place on the program today.

We who knew, and most of those who spoke of Senator Davis, affectionately referred to him as "Link" Davis, for no one could be formal with the big-hearted, generous-minded and approachable man of the West who played such an important part in Northwestern history. He belonged here in the late territorial and early statehood days when the foundations were being laid for the commonwealth, and he belonged in the first rush to the Klondike, which he joined, for it was on the energy, boundless enthusiasm, constant good-nature, ready wit and wise counsels of men like Senator Davis that frontier towns sprang into great cities; that law and order followed chaos and that our people were encouraged to build for the future of the Pacific Northwest.

To his daughter Senator Davis left the proud consciousness as she now studies the history of this state that her father played a most important part in its development.

Senator Davis was a native of Iowa, having been born in 1860, in Muscatine county, but he really belonged even farther West. He followed the setting sun with the spirit of adventure and the courage of a pioneer, immediately after finishing a course of study in the country schools of his county and Wilton Academy. By 1888 he had reached the Pacific Coast and remained in Tacoma, for that then appeared to him to be the farthest western point attainable. But less than ten years later he was fighting his way across mountain trail and down the Yukon with the hardy adventurers of the first Alaska gold rush who opened up the Klondike country with its marvelous wealth and pointed the way toward the opening of all Alaska.

At the time Senator Davis reached Tacoma, the then Territory of Washington was making its successful fight for statehood and Senator Davis plunged into the strenuous life of those days with enthusiasm. He was chief of police of Tacoma from 1892 to 1894 and a peace officer even longer, or until he sailed for Alaska. After his return to Tacoma he was elected to the State Senate, serving in four sessions, 1901-03-05-07, from the Twenty-eighth District. It was a district in which resided many railroad employees, and the records of the Senate will show that Senator Davis supported some of the first measures passed for the protection of railroad employees.

Afterwards Senator Davis moved to Seattle and in my district and became one of the owners of the Diller Hotel, famous for many years as the abiding-place of thousands of people from the Northwestern counties while visiting Seattle. To an already large state acquaintance he added a closer understanding of the aims of the people, and his sympathies with the legislative needs of the Northwestern counties led him to re-enter the Senate from the Thirty-fifth District in 1915. Illness made it impossible for him to attend regularly during the 1917 session, and he died immediately after the Legislature adjourned.

Those who served with him in the Legislature will remember his ready wit, his shrewd analysis of proposed legislation, his constant good nature and willingness to be of assistance to his colleagues. I do not believe he ever faltered in the performance of his duty as he saw it, and I am sure that afterward he never felt any doubt but that he had voted in strict conformance with the dictates of his own conscience on all measures.

In business life and in politics men had confidence in the word of Senator Davis and he never betrayed that confidence. He was one of the most active republican workers of both Pierce and King counties and a prominent figure in the politics of this state. In the fraternal organizations of which he was a member he was held in the highest esteem. He was a man whom one is proud to have known.

The State Senate has sustained a heavy loss in the death of Lincoln Davis, and the State of Washington one of its most upright and valued citizens.

Senator Landon spoke on the life of Robert F. Booth as follows:

Senator Robert F. Booth was born in Minnesota in 1874. When a youth he moved to this city, where he grew to manhood. Later he took up his residence in Seattle. He was sent to the House in 1905 and served in the Senate during the 1907-09 sessions. He died the twenty-third of November, 1918.

His name is linked with all the important legislation enacted during the time he served as a member of the Legislature, such as the amendment to the constitution providing for woman's suffrage, the railroad commission bill.

Bob Booth had a most lovable character. No words of mine can add or detract from his worth as a citizen and public official. He always did his duty and did it well.

An eulogy on the life of E. M. Williams was delivered by Senator Landon, as follows:

Senator E. M. Williams was born in New York state in 1868. He moved to Seattle some twenty years ago. Served in the Senate during the sessions of 1907 and 1909. Died the fourteenth day of April, 1918. But one man answered to the roll call in the Senate that was there in 1907—our esteemed Senator Metcalf. The departed brother contributed his full share to the larger units of society, that of state. Always greeting you with words of encouragement, and a true and loyal friend.

Hon. George Cotterill spoke in memory of Messrs. Chas. M. Easterday, Joseph Arrasmith, Wm. D. Wood, Clarence A. Ide, Wm. V. Rinehart, C. E. Hoover, Jas. B. Hawthorne, James R. Catlin, M. P. Hurd, John A. Gilkey, Jesse A. Frye, C. H. Wooldridge, Francis Rotch and John R. O'Donnell as follows:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and members of the joint assembly: We are at a time when human life seems at once the most common and the most precious object of thought and action. Our country and the world have just emerged from the great struggle which has cost nine millions of human lives besides the two hundred billions of treasure spent in the conflict. America offered four millions of her sons and placed more than fifty thousand upon the altar of supreme sacrifice for the cause of world-freedom and democracy made safe for its mission to all humanity. Human life was never reckoned so cheap as during these crisis years, and yet every life thus spent in sacrifice was given in tribute for the assurance of human rights and human happiness for those to follow to establish the supreme value of human life even while pouring out life in lavish devotion and service.

We cannot exceed justice in honoring those who have died that democracy might live, nor dare we fail to meet the debt of gratitude to those who offered their all in our country's cause but who have been spared to return to share in the blessings of a preserved democracy.

Today we are reminded that service is not alone upon the battlefield; that men serve their day and generation in civil life as by heroic death. We are especially assembled to do honor to those who have served the people in these legislative halls, in the years that have gone, but who have "passed on" since the session of two years ago. It is fitting and proper that we pause in the business of today to pay our tribute to those who served in our places but yesterday. Democracy honors itself in thus giving meed of honoring memory to those who have lived and labored in its cause, and who have been called to their reward.

I count myself fortunate to have cast my lot of youth and zeal into this Pacific Northwest commonwealth during those years when the pioneer territorial era was merging into statehood. Great as is the satisfaction of living with a generation which has achieved and witnessed a development in population and material accomplishments, twenty, fifty, yea a hundred-fold, I treasure more the privilege that has been mine of acquaintance and association with those men and women who have truly been the builders of a commonwealth, founders of community life, makers of institutions, developers of democratic life and duty.

Along the walls of the lobby that separates these legislative chambers is a procession of pictures, the groups covering the constitutional convention of nearly thirty years ago and the fifteen biennial legislatures that have preceded this sixteenth session. Perhaps a thousand faces appear in this gallery of public service. To one who has witnessed all these assemblages it brings a touch of sadness to review these silent faces and to recall that nearly half have passed into the vale of eternal silence. It makes one feel indeed that,

"Men drop so fast, 'ere life's mid-stage we tread, Few know so many friends alive as dead."

A few years ago, on an eastbound trip, I found myself at a railway junction point in southern Wisconsin with a 'couple of hours' wait for a connecting train. It was a little village in a distinctly rural environment, and as I noted the name it brought to mind a friend and comrade of many years, whom I had frequently addressed at that postoffice, but who had passed away during the preceding year. Without any acquaintance or guide I wandered out to the little cemetery on a shaded eminence nearby the village, seeking in "God's acre" the last resting place of my old friend. As I strolled about noting the monuments and tombstones 'ere I found the one sought and paid my solitary tribute, I was impressed with the seemingly large number in the "city of the dead" as compared with the little village and its rural vicinity. Passing out, I met the old sexton who looked as if he might have done the in-gathering for the two generations that had passed, and questioned him of the comparative populations in "God's acre" on the hilltop and in the tributary community round about. He had the exact figures of one and a close estimate of the other, and with something of pride in his guardianship, demonstrated that "the great majority" had passed to the hills of eternity.

At each recurring biennial memorial we are impressed that the time is close at hand when the somber border might be placed around a majority of those in these pictured groups who have served in our state halls of legislation since the admission of Washington to statehood in 1889.

Today we come to honor the memory of the score and more who have been called since the last session. Special tribute has been paid to some of them by those who now occupy their former places in these halls and knew their character, service and reputation among the people whom they served. Speaking for all, I would not indulge in fulsome eulogy or vainglorious words of praise. These were men like unto ourselves. They took their place "by the side of the road, where the race of men went by." Their fellows and neighbors saw in them traits of sympathy and capacity for service. They received expression of confidence and credential of respect, and wove their contributions into the fabric of our representative popular government. They differed and agreed as do we today, and out of the differences and agreements worked that unity of action which is the glory of democracy. Of them, as of us, it can only be said at the last:

"We must all die,
All leave ourselves, it matters not where, when,
Nor how, so we die well; and can that man that does so
Need lamentation for him."

For let it ever be remembered that:

"We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart-throbs. He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

Where all are worthy, I would not make selection from this honored list for special word of memorial, save as your president has kindly suggested that I refer to two or three whom it was my privilege to know well and in whose memory I gladly speak in sincere appreciation.

MAJOR WILLIAM V. RINEHART

Member of the First Washington State Senate, 1889-90.

The old landmarks of pioneer personality in public affairs have almost passed into the shadow of remembrance. Here was one who stood like a lone giant of the forest withstanding the stress of time long after his fellows had fallen. The entire history of Pacific Coast development was practically compassed within the life of Major Rinehart. Take it in quick review. A son of Indiana in its pioneer period when the nineteenth century was only one-third run; an ox-team driver across the plains to the "land of gold" nearly two decades before the first railway spanned the continent; a California miner following close after the "forty-niners"; a pioneer of old Oregon for five years preceding the Civil war, his first duty as a soldier in defense of pioneer homes in the Rogue river Indian war of 1856. He had settled down to quiet life at merchandising when the call of 1861 awoke the nation to duty. The pioneer Pacific Northwest was three thousand miles distant and almost three months' travel from the scene of action, but there were patriots in plenty. Assisting in recruiting Company F, First Oregon Cavalry, Rinehart was mustered in as first lieutenant. He served throughout the war period, advancing to the rank of major of the First Oregon Infantry in 1865. The Oregon troops were not called to the eastern theater of war, but performed the important home service of replacing the former regulars at the various posts where protective duty against Indian dangers was constantly required. In that capacity Major Rinehart commanded at Fort Klamath until it was garrisoned by regulars in 1866. Returning to civil life as merchant, postmaster and Indian agent at Malheur reservation after nearly thirty years of pioneering in California and Oregon, we find him in 1882 at middle life making another pioneer move to the newest of the Pacific Northwest—to Seattle and Washington territory. At once in business and soon called to public life as councilman, he had become one of the recognized leaders in politics and government when the territory emerged into statehood in 1889. He was chosen to the first state senate and served with honor and distinction in that memorable first legislative session, upon which devolved the great duty of enforcing the new constitution with a code of statutes covering the entire field of the needs of the new commonwealth.

In 1890 Seattle adopted the new charter authorized under the state constitution and Major Rinehart was appointed to the first board of public works. Retiring for a brief interval, he came back to his first love, the city council, and served a full decade until he had passed far beyond the scriptural three score years and ten, but always with unabating strength and vigor. His last decade of earned, not "borrowed time," has been one of rich reminiscence and inspiration in every circle of life and fraternity where his personal touch reached. As president of the Pioneers' Association he was justly honored in these closing years. He lived just long enough to rejoice in the world-triumph of the country and cause for which he had spent a great lifetime of service.

There are only a few left to link us by living memory to the beginning of our pioneer past. It is not given to many to look back over two-thirds of a century of Pacific Coast progress from the "days of gold" to this great day of history and be able to say with the old Latin poet, "All of which I have seen," and to justly add, "and part of which I have been." Townsman, neighbor, friend—I am honored to pay a tribute this day to one whom Seattle knew best as "the old Major," through the long years when there were not many to share such titles. Of him it might truly be said as in Lowell's tribute to Curtis:

"For me Fate gave whate'er she else denied
A nature sloping to the southern side.
I thank her for it, though when clouds arise
Such natures double darken glooming skies."

Indeed, one dare apply to Major Rinehart those great words of the bard of Avon:

"His life was gentle; and the elements
So mixed in him that Nature might stand up
And say to all the world—This was a Man!"

JUDGE WILLIAM D. WOOD

Member of the First Washington State Senate, 1889-90.

In striking contrast to the rugged Rinehart figure that survived five-sixths of a great century of pioneering in almost every "West" of America's development, turn now to another—a "Native Son of the Golden West," who saw the star of progress in the Pacific Northwest and came with all the zeal of youth to invest a lifetime. A graduate in law of the University of California, he—like Major Rinehart—reached Seattle in 1882 and formed a partnership with a new arrival from Missouri via California, James T. Ronald, also to be known and honored in the years that followed. They established themselves in public favor to the extent that two years later, at the election of 1884, though on opposite party tickets, Ronald was chosen as the territorial district attorney and Wood as judge of probate. Thus came the title of Judge Wood, by which he was known through life, although he laid aside the practice of law and devoted his life to business pursuits and public service in various capacities. The creative, constructive, development instinct was dominant in Judge Wood's character, whether applied to industries or institutions, to material, political or moral progress. The venturesome blood of California's gold-seeking era was his by heritage and led him ever on to new fields of development. He early saw the vision of a Greater Seattle in the north-lake district and from that vision grew the Green Lake residence vicinity, perhaps the largest home district of Seattle. He pioneered almost the first electric street railway. He loved development for the zest of effort and achievement rather than for any fortune which might be gained. The "game" was his delight rather than its rewards. Thus in the tide of events and the alternation of prosperity and adversity, whether on the crest or in the trough of the waves of personal fortune, he was ever the same buoyant, forward-looking, venturesome spirit, seeking new fields of development. In his public relations he displayed the same traits of devotion to service for the sake of service, without thought of its honors or emoluments. Representing the great north district of Seattle and King county, which was just beginning to emerge from the primeval forest, led by his constructive genius for development, Judge Wood served through the first legislative session after statehood as state senator. The location of the state university upon unrivalled campus between the lakes was in realization of part of the vision of this captain of development. In 1896 he was chosen mayor of Seattle at a time of stress and adversity which taxed every municipal as well as individual resource to the utmost. His service in the initial stages of the acquirement for Seattle of the Cedar river gravity water supply was strategically able and helpful. Towards the close of his term as mayor came the Klondike discovery like a golden gleam out of the night, and Judge Wood felt the "call of the blood" that was his by California birthright and the son of the Golden West of the "fifties" followed the lure of the new Arctic gold fields as the nineteenth century merged into the twentieth. Soon back in Seattle, he resumed and increased his activities for community service, reaching almost every phase of material, moral, civic and religious effort. To me he seemed—and I was glad to pay the tribute to his face without leaving it for a mere memorial utterance—Seattle's most genuinely useful citizen in his all-around capacity and zeal for community service. Almost throughout his career, he worked against the handicap of frail physique, with collapse oftentimes threatening, but with a mastering spirit that quietly suffered and controlled, when it could overcome. Ill health was his constant portion during the latter years, and in 1917 Judge Wood "passed on," 'ere he had reached three-score years. With a deep sense of personal remembrance and appreciation, I say today in all sincerity that the State of Washington and the city of Seattle lost a great citizen by the death of William D. Wood.

JUDGE ROBERT B. ALBERTSON

Speaker, House of Representatives, 1901 Session.

The record of these exercises will include appropriate tribute to the honored memory of Judge Albertson, with some detail review of his distinguished career. Since no one has spoken of him today, may I take the privilege to voice a little of that which is in my heart? 'Twas mine to know through all the years this chivalric son of the old South who came to the new West as one of the choicest offerings of young manhood in those early "eighties." He literally earned his place as a lawyer. Seattle claimed his service as city attorney in the constructive period following the great fire of 1889. Whenever public service called, his response was certain and satisfactory. He had achieved distinction in his profession and attained prominence in political affairs when elected to this House first in 1894 and again in 1900, and his selection as speaker at the 1901 session was in recognition of proven ability. He graced this platform throughout that session with a dignity and fairness which all expected and in which none were disappointed. Early in 1903 by appointment to fill a vacancy, the lawyer and legislator became Judge Albertson, and so he remained by four successive and almost unanimous reelections up to the time of his passing. A brilliant orator, a learned counsellor, a just judge, and ever and always a true gentleman. Indeed, as memory runs the gamut of more than three decades through which as friend and neighbor I was privileged to know this man in private and in public life, it seems to me in retrospect that his character may be summed up in that old phrase, used oft so lightly and cheaply, "A gentleman and a scholar." For truly could it be said of Judge Albertson:

"He was a scholar, and a ripe and good one,
Exceeding wise, fair spoken and persuading,
Lofty and sour to them that loved him not,
But to those men that sought him, sweet as summer."

And there was nothing of pose or pretense in that grace and dignity which even the judicial robe could emphasize but not increase, for one could not but feel at every glance upon his every attitude, that

"Tho' modest, on his unembarrassed brow,
Nature has written—Gentleman."

Time forbids that I speak of others on this list that you honor today. Gladly would I refer to the four with whom it was my privilege to associate in the state sessions of 1907 and 1909—to Robert F. Booth, Lincoln Davis, E. M. Williams and Joseph Arrasmith—but all have been well spoken for at these exercises save the last named. May I say of Senator Arrasmith, whose desk adjoined mine at the 1909 session, that he was one of the truest and most faithful representatives of the great agricultural interests of this state. A real farmer of the Palouse country from pioneer days; he brought to the public service a long experience, a practical judgment and an old-fashioned, downright honesty and conviction of duty that dominated his every act. Nor should Clarence W. Ide pass unmentioned. A senator from Spokane in two or three sessions immediately following statehood, he became one of the leading political figures and received recognition as collector of the Port of Puget Sound, the most important of all the federal appointments in the state. Later he served the city of Seattle and King county in constructive and responsible public service which continued up to the time of his death about two years ago.

I cannot refrain from a special reference to Senator "Link" Davis, then of Tacoma, but later representing a Seattle district. At the 1907 session there was probably no member with whom I was compelled to differ more regularly upon public questions—and withal, more enjoyably, for whatever else he may have been there was a square sporting instinct which never failed to break out in humor. I recall the last day of that session. Sixty days previously Senator Davis had come with a couple of bills to repeal or modify certain laws which he believed public sentiment did not support. He had introduced them and steered them to a committee where he kept a watchful eye, looking for the opportune time to bring them out for action. Through the sixty days that legislature was bombarded with petitions and memorials against the repeal action sought by Senator Davis, and he kept his bills under a committee umbrella waiting for the storm to cease. On the last day, with the contagious smile of a good loser, he rose in his place and spoke somewhat to this effect: "Mr. President, when I came to this session, I thought I knew what the people wanted and I introduced a couple of bills to accomplish that idea. I know when I'm licked, and I want the satisfaction of clearing the deck. I move the indefinite postponement of Senate bills — and —" (his own bills).

If I dared to venture any philosophizing or anything resembling effort to draw a moral applicable to a memorial occasion like this, it would be along this line: In a democracy the representatives of the people must have a mutual respect for each other's motives and opinions. There will be varying angles of vision and differing convictions of duty upon almost every public question that can arise, and out of this clash of opinion comes the forming of public sentiment and the fixing of public policy. We can get nowhere in a democracy by basing any action upon suspicion, distrust and hatred of any of the representatives or agencies through which democracy must do its work. Unless we are as ready to ascribe worthy motives to others as we claim for ourselves, a representative assembly loses one of the vital traits of working democracy. There is certain to be variety of thought and interest leading to difference in conviction and expression of duty. When we practice for ourselves and recognize in others honesty and sincerity of motive, there is hope for unity and loyalty in conclusion that is the triumph of democracy!

And so, with respect for those who have served before, and honor for the memory of the service rendered by these who have answered the final roll call of earth, let us go on to the duties of today. May we catch something of the spirit of that rugged legislator of the olden days of Connecticut of whom the Quaker poet tells that:

"From a brown homestead, where the Sound
Drinks the small tribute of the Mianas,
Waved over by the woods of Rippowams,
And hallowed by pure lives and tranquil deaths,
Stamford sent up to the councils of the State
Wisdom and grace in Abraham Davenport.
'Twas on a Mayday of the far old year
Seventeen hundred eighty, that there fell
Over the bloom and sweet life of the Spring,
Over the fresh earth and the heaven of noon,
A horror of great darkness, like the night
In days of which the Norland sagas tell—
The Twilight of the Gods; the low-hung sky
Was black with ominous clouds, save where its rim
Was fringed with a dull glow, like that which climbs
The crater's side from the red hell below;

Birds ceased to sing, and all the barnyard fowls
Roosted; the cattle at the pasture bars
Low'd and look'd homeward; bats on leathern wings
Flitt'd abroad; the sounds of labor died;
Men pray'd and women wept; all ears grew sharp
To hear the doom-blast of the trumpet shatter
The black sky, that the dreadful face of Christ
Might look from the rent clouds, not as he look'd
A loving guest at Bethany, but stern
As Justice and inexorable Law.

Meanwhile in the old State House, dim as ghosts,
Sat the law-givers of Connecticut,
Trembling beneath their legislative robes.
"It is the Lord's Great Day! Let us adjourn,"
Some said; and then as if with one accord,
All eyes were turned to Abraham Davenport.
He rose slow, cleaving with his steady voice
The intolerable hush. "This well may be
The Day of Judgment which the world awaits.
But be it so or not, I only know
My present duty, and my Lord's command
To occupy till He come. So at the post
Where He hath set me in His providence
I choose, for one, to meet Him face to face.
No faithless servant frightened from my task,
But ready when the Lord of the harvest calls;
And therefore, with all reverence I would say,
"Let God do His work, we will see to ours, Bring in the candles!" And they brought them in.

Then by the flaring lights the Speaker read,
Albeit with husky voice and shaking hands,
"An act to amend an act to regulate The shad and alewine fisheries." Whereupon
Wisely and well spake Abraham Davenport,
Straight to the question, with no figures of speech
Save the ten Arab signs, yet not without
The shrewd, dry humor natural to the man;
His awe-struck colleagues listening all the while,
Between the pauses of his argument,
To hear the thunder of the wrath of God
Break from the hollow trumpet of the cloud.

And there he stands in memory to this day,
Erect, self-poised, a rugged face, half seen
Against the background of unnatural dark,
A witness to the ages as they pass,
That simple duty hath no place for fear.

Members of the Washington State Legislature, these are days of threatening clouds, of lowering darkness. An old world is passing and out of the darkness of the night of war, a new and better day is dawning. We are in the twilight with the hope it is that of the morn. May the spirit of Abraham Davenport guide democracy steadily forward in these dark hours, and hold us true to the path of public duty!

In memory of the past and prayerful pledge for the future, we can best honor these who have served in their day by facing the problems of today with that courage and devotion which we love to pay as tribute to the dead.

The world looks to America today as never before. The State of Washington is our part of that grand Union of which the greatest of American poets sang of the launching of the Ship of State:

"Sail on, O Union strong and great,
Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hopes of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate."

And as we turn from memory to service in this great day of humanity's appeal for America's best, let the day of memorial be one of dedication anew as we salute America and all for which she stands:

"Our hearts, our hopes are all with thee.
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with thee; are all with thee!"

The joint assembly arose in silent prayer in memory of the departed.

At 3:35 p. m., on motion of Senator Hutchinson, the joint assembly dissolved.

On motion of Mr. Adams (Wm. H.), the House adjourned until 10:00 a. m., Wednesday, February 5, 1919.

RESOLUTION NO. 6051.

WHEREAS, On the 15th day of January, 1919, there was introduced in the State Legislature Senate Bill No. 18, relating to public service properties and utilities, and amending Section 25 of Chapter 117 of the Laws of 1911, and providing for the collection by any street railroad company of a fare in excess of five cents for a continuous ride within the corporate limits of any city or town whenever authorized so to do by ordinance duly passed by the corporate authorities of such city or town; and

WHEREAS, Said Senate Bill No. 18 has now been amended to provide that a rate in excess of five cents for a continuous ride within the corporate limits of any city or town may be charged by any street railroad company, with the permission, or upon the order, of the Public Service Commission after the filing of a tariff or complaint by such street railroad company and a hearing thereon; and

WHEREAS, No provision has been made in said bill requiring notice to, or the consent of, any municipality affected by any increase of fares; and

WHEREAS, Said bill, as amended, if enacted would authorize the Public Service Commission, without the consent of the city affected, to abrogate franchise contracts which have been entered into with street railroad companies by the several cities and towns of the state, limiting the rate of fare to be charged to five cents; and

WHEREAS, There has been attached to said Senate Bill No. 18 an emergency clause, which, in the opinion of the city council, is not justified or warranted in view of the provisions of Amendment 7 to the State Constitution, approved November, 1912, amending Section 1 of Article II thereof; now, therefore,

Be it resolved, by the city council of the city of Seattle as follows:

That it does hereby protest, and object to, the enactment of said Senate Bill No. 18, as amended, as an unwarranted interference with contractual rights existing between the several cities and towns of the state and street railroad companies operating utilities within their respective corporate limits, and as an attempt to deprive the people of the State of Washington of the right to refer said bill, if enacted, by the declaration of an emergency which does not in fact exist;

Be it further resolved, That the senators and representatives from the city of Seattle be, and they are hereby respectfully, but urgently, requested to oppose the enactment of said Senate Bill No. 18, as amended, or any other bill the effect of which would be to authorize the Public Service Commission to permit a charge by any street railway company of more than five cents for a continuous ride within the corporate limits of any city or town without the consent of such city or town.

Be it further resolved, That the city comptroller of the city of Seattle forthwith mail to each of the representatives and senators from the city of Seattle and to the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate, a duly certified copy of this resolution.

Passed the city council the 5th day of February, 1919, and signed by me in open session in authentication of its passage this 5th day of February, 1919.

President of the City Council.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

To the Sixteenth Legislature of the State of Washington:

We, your committee appointed under Senate Joint Resolution No. 6, beg leave to report that pursuant to your instructions your committee met in room 212, Hotel Portland, Portland, Oregon, at 10 a. m., Monday, February 3, 1919, and there organized by the election of Senator T. D. Rockwell as chairman, and Representative W. W. Conner as secretary, and then went into conference with the soldiers' and sailors' relief commission of Oregon, consisting of W. B. Ayer, chairman, J. O. Cranston, John H. Stevenson and John H. Burgard, the fifth member of the Oregon commission, Harry Anderson, being unable to be present.

After going over the action taken by the Legislature of the State of Washington with the above named commission, it was decided that Mr. W. B. Ayer, the chairman of the Oregon commission, should accompany your committee to Salem, Oregon, where we proceeded, leaving Portland at 2 p. m., and arriving at Salem at 4:15 p. m., when we immediately went into conference with Governor Withycomb, who apparently approved our mission and gave us every encouragement possible.

At 5:00 p. m. we met the joint committee of the House and Senate on reconstruction, where we laid our program out and were very well received. Besides the joint committee there were present the speaker of the House and president of the Senate of the Oregon legislature, as well as a great many other interested members of both the House and Senate. Before this meeting of the committee, Mr. Ayer, the chairman of the Oregon commission, informed all present that he and the other members of the Oregon commission had that day tendered their resignations to the Governor so that the legislature of Oregon could redraft their commission bill and follow the same up by the enactment of necessary public works laws. It was ascertained at this time that Oregon could not do a great deal toward the public works feature owing to the fact that they have a six per cent limitation clause in their constitution, which was adopted by the initiative. They assured us, however, that they would submit a bond issue to the people early in June for their ratification or rejection. They also informed us that they would change their commission act so as to give their commissioners unlimited power, the original act having restricted them in several respects.

Feeling that we had performed our duty at Salem, we then returned to Portland, leaving there Tuesday morning for Boise, Idaho, having previously telegraphed to the president of the Senate and the speaker of the House, requesting that we be granted permission to address the legislature of Idaho in joint session.

Arriving at Boise Wednesday noon, we were met by a committee and escorted to the capitol building, where we met Governor Davis, who was thoroughly impressed with our mission and said that it would have his utmost support. At 2:00 p. m., we were escorted to the House of Representatives, where Senator Rockwell, Senator Judd, Mr. Maurice Smith and W. W. Conner addressed the legislature in joint session. After being tendered a rising vote of thanks, your committee was again escorted to the presence of the Governor, who stated that Idaho had made no provision along this line, but would follow out the plan of the State of Washington as nearly to the letter as possible, and he immediately assured us that in the line of public works they would authorize the issuance of $950,000 bonds against their capitol building grant for the completion of their state capitol, and would immediately pass an act creating a welfare commission.

Leaving Boise at 5:30 p. m., we arrived at Pocatello, Idaho, at 2:30 a. m., where we made connections at 7:00 a. m. for Butte, which city we reached Thursday evening at 6:30, having previously wired the legislature of Montana at Helena that we would be there Friday noon. We were met in Helena at 11:20 a. m. Friday morning by Senators Burlinghame, Morris and Pauline, and Representatives Baldwin, Lemon and Wilson, who were able to distinguish your committee by the fact that Senator Rockwell carried the proverbial Puget Sound umbrella.

After many introductions we were taken to the hotel for luncheon, and then at 1:30 into the presence of Governor Stuart, after which we were taken before the joint session of the House and Senate, who had met for the purpose of hearing us in the House chamber. Your committee was augmented at this time by the presence of Lieutenant William B. George of Billings, Montana, who felt so heartily in sympathy with our mission that he deferred going to Billings to see his father and mother, whom he had not visited since his return from France, where he was twice wounded and decorated with the croix de guerre and service bar with star thereon, in honor of his having been wounded while in command of French troops, and who only returned to the United States on the 26th of January, and who delivered a message to the Idaho legislature following the presentment by your committee.

Upon our completing our mission before the joint session, we were given a rising vote of thanks, which was participated in by the spectators in the galleries as well as the members on the floor, and then were requested to meet with a special committee appointed by Lieutenant-Governor W. W. MacDowell and Speaker O. W. Belden, consisting of Senators Edwin S. Booth, John Slattery and Judge Parker, and Representatives Buell, Conserve and Dan Kelly, which committee we met with in joint session in the executive chambers with the Governor and at his request. After going into all minor details and receiving the assurance of the Governor and committees and individual members of the House and Senate, we were escorted to the hotel, from which we went to the station and made connections with the 5:40 train for Olympia, where we found awaiting your committee Honorable Henry N. Teague, associate director of construction development, department of labor, who is working under Honorable F. T. Miller, director of construction development, 16 Jackson place, Washington, D. C., who informed your committee that the State of Washington had done more for the rehabilitation and readjustment of the nation than all the other states combined.

Your committee also found the following telegram awaiting them, which shows conclusively that the department of labor and secretary of war have taken notice of the action of this Legislature. The telegram was dated:

"Washington, D. C., February 6, 1919.

Honorable W. W. Conner, House of Representatives, Olympia, Washington.

Secretary of labor and secretary of war urge necessary public improvements be advanced in sections with surplus labor consequently your actions in line with national policy. The information contained in this telegram was immediately placed in the hands of the Veterans' Welfare Commission for such action as they deemed best.

Respectfully submitted,

T. D. ROCKWELL,
A. E. JUDD,
W. W. CONNER,
MAURICE SMITH,
PLINY L. ALLEN.

On motion of Mr. Guie, the report of the committee was received, the committee commended for the faithful and speedy performance of its duties, and the committee permitted to continue its duties.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE REPORT.

We, your special committee, appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the State of Washington under House Joint Resolution No. 3, relating to the appointment of a committee to investigate the State Training School at Chehalis, beg leave to submit the following report and recommendations:

All members of the committee left Olympia Wednesday morning at 9:00 a. m., and went directly to the boys' school. The members of the committee visited and carefully inspected each and every building of the institution as well as all the land properties in connection with the institution.

I. BUILDINGS.

1. We recommend that the building now occupied by the superintendent be thoroughly remodeled and repaired, on the cottage plan, and made suitable for a home, to be occupied by the smaller boys.

2. We recommend that a cottage be built as a residence for the superintendent and family.

3. We strongly recommend new fireproof shops, adequately equipped, in which all the boys may learn a skilled trade. The school could do not other one thing that would so contribute to the making of the boy's character than the teaching of a trade in order that each boy may go out prepared to make his way in the world.

4. The school has no greater need than that of a new gymnasium, properly equipped, and a good physical director.

5. The present buildings should all be painted for their own preservation and to improve their appearances.

6. There is a very evident need of a thorough overhauling of the electrical wiring in many of the buildings. This we recommend to be done at as early date as possible, under the supervision of a thorough mechanical and electrical engineer recommended to be permanently employed and with the help of the boys, which would serve a double purpose—of eliminating extra expense and at the same time would be a source of education to the boys.

7. We approve the plans of the Board of Control for the general repair of the barns and outbuildings.

II. EDUCATIONAL.

1. Several new teachers are needed to bring the educational work of the school up to a satisfactory standard. In the organization of the school, one of these teachers should be principal. The Board of Control might well consider the addition of one teacher to assist the three now doing grade work and make some provision to accommodate boys ready for high school work.

2. A music and band director should be employed at stated intervals. The school now has about fifteen hundred dollars' worth of band instruments. The influence of good music cannot be over-estimated upon these growing boys.

3. One or more manual training and vocational teachers should be employed. A trade for every boy might well be one of the mottoes of the school.

4. We heartily approve the plan of the Board of Control to employ a modern farmer. The boys, so inclined, should be encouraged to take up farm work as a life work and be taught up-to-date methods.

III. MORAL, RELIGIOUS AND INSPIRATIONAL.

1. In addition to the present Sunday religious exercises, a Sunday school, with volunteer attendance, might well be inaugurated. A school orchestra or band would greatly contribute to the value of this Sunday school work.

2. We approve of the suggestion that one of the teaching staff be specially qualified to do social work and whose life and teachings should be an inspiration to the boys.

3. We approve of the plan now in operation of having visiting ministers and other speakers as often as possible.

IV. LIBRARY.

1. The library is now located in an excellent room and should receive generous consideration. The books need to be classified according to the Dewey system, with large placards showing the classification, that students may easily find the proper books. There is need for more reference books. Also there should be more magazines.

V. CLOTHING.

1. The Legislature should make provision for more and better clothing for the boys. Both working clothes and uniforms are lacking. Their clothing (underwear and work clothes) should be laundered more often.

VI. KITCHEN AND DINING HALL.

1. Many unsatisfactory conditions were found to exist, such as extremely unsanitary methods used in preparing and serving of the food to the boys, a lack in the kitchen of proper equipment and care of same to provide the boys with palatable and proper food. In the dining room a very insufficient supply of drinking cups, plates, knives, forks and spoons and other dining room necessities and an evident lack of attempt to enforce ordinary table manners.

The management might well consider some improvement in the manner of serving the meals. More attention should be given to neatness and cleanliness. In this connection, the quarters used as a dairy room were unclean, ill-smelling and gave no evidence of care; likewise the quarters used as a barber shop.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The spirit of the boys toward the classroom teachers is good. The teaching force and some others connected with the school seem quite loyal and interested in the boys and in the success of the school; on the other hand, the same satisfactory condition and pleasant relations do not seem to exist between some of the linemen and other help.

The responsibility for the condition of the school must be laid partly at the door of ourselves, the Legislature of the State of Washington, for not having provided more generously in years past for the conduct of the school.

Provided the recommendations of the committee are carried out, and an adequate sum of money be placed at the disposal of the Board of Control, we believe that the State Training School could be brought to a satisfactory standard in the near future.

Respectfully submitted,

D. H. Cox,

Chairman of Senate Committee.

W. M. ANDERSON,

Chairman of House Committee.

WALTER S. DAVIS.

G. W. THOMPSON.

C. W. ANGUISH.

On motion of Mr. Anguish, the report was adopted.

One custodian shall be employed for each twenty machines; if more than one be employed they shall be selected from the political parties entitled to representation on a board of election officers. * * * Provided, however, The county auditor of a county, the clerk of a city, or other district having two hundred (200) voting machines or more, shall appoint as a permanent employee, a competent mechanic who shall be known as the chief custodian of voting machines, who shall be sworn to perform his duties honestly and faithfully, and shall furnish a corporate surety bond in the sum of five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars for the honest and faithful performance of his duties, and whose salary shall be the sum of two hundred dollars per month, to be paid out of the general fund of said county, city or other district, in the same manner as provided by law for the payment of salaries.

It may also be so arranged that candidates nominated independently, or by political organizations which have nominated but one candidate, each shall be placed in the same party row and voted for individually; and in that event the party voting device of such party row shall be locked against movement, and the political designations of such candidates shall be printed upon the ballot labels in connection with their names. In all other cases of non-partisan primaries and elections, and in all cases of party primaries and elections, the arrangement of names of candidates upon the ballot labels shall conform as nearly as practicable to the provisions of law for the arrangement of names on paper ballots.

"After being prepared for the primary or election, each machine shall be examined by the auditor or clerk, and if the same be prepared in accordance with law for use thereat, he shall file a certificate thereof in his office. The custodian shall cause all voting machines to be delivered to the polling places in charge of an authorized official who shall certify to their delivery in good order on the certificate furnished therefor. MESSAGE FROM THE ACTING GOVERNOR.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR.
OLYMPIA, February 26, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the State of Washington:

Up to date there has been presented to this office for consideration by the chief executive, twenty-three House bills and sixteen Senate bills. The last bills presented by the House of Representatives was on the 18th instant, and the last ones presented from the Senate were received in this office on the 17th instant. The Legislative Record of the House on the date of February 22nd, on pages 31 and 32, show that at that date thirty-seven House bills had passed the Senate and that twenty-four Senate bills had passed the House, leaving in the House at that date, fourteen House bills that had passed both houses, and in the Senate eight Senate bills that had passed both houses.

With but fifteen days more of the session, may I suggest that bills should be enrolled and delivered to the executive office with shorter lapse of time in order that I may be given an opportunity to read the bills within the constitutional time limitation?

Thanking you for your kindly attention to this matter, I am,

Yours very truly,

LOUIS F. HART,
Acting Governor.

MR. REED: I think that this message from the Acting Governor is entitled to some explanation, and I think that it is based entirely on misinformation, and that it is an injustice to our clerical force. As a matter of fact, there is now in the possession of the Chief Clerk of this House six bills which have been passed by both houses. These bills have been enrolled and are now ready to turn over, and have been waiting for the chairmen of the committees to check them over. It has been the policy of this House not to pass these bills along for signature until the committees have compared them. Those six bills will be turned over for signature today. On the 22nd of this month, six other bills were sent from the House to the Senate for signature. They have just been returned from the Senate this minute, so I think the Acting Governor is basing his communication somewhat on misinformation, and we should not unjustly criticise our own employees.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR.
OLYMPIA, March 3, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the State of Washington:

I am returning you herewith House Bill No. 42, entitled "An act relating to the relief of soldiers, sailors and marines and their families, and amending Sections 8914, 8915, 8916, 8917, 8918, 8929 and 8919 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington," with my approval endorsed thereon, excepting Sections 2, 3 and 4, which are vetoed.

Section 2 reads as follows:

"Sec. 2. That Section 8915 of Remington & Ballinger's Code be amended to read as follows:

Section 8915. If there be no post of the Grand Army of the Republic, camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, in any precinct in which it should be granted, the county commissioners of the county in which such precinct is, may accept and pay the orders drawn, as hereinbefore provided, by the commander and quartermaster of any post of the Grand Army of the Republic, camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, located in the nearest city or town, upon the recommendation of a relief committee who shall be residents of the said precinct in which the relief may be furnished."

Section 3 reads as follows:

"Sec. 3. That Section 8916 of Remington & Ballinger's Code be amended to read as follows:

Section 8916. Upon the passage of this act the commander of any post of the Grand Army of the Republic, camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, which shall undertake the relief of indigent veterans and their families, as hereinbefore provided, before the acts of said commander and quartermaster may become operative in any city or precinct, shall file with the county auditor of such county, notice that said post or camp intends to undertake such relief, as is provided by this act. Such notice shall contain the names of the relief committee of said post or camp in such city or precinct, and the commander of said post or camp shall annually thereafter during the month of October, file a similar notice with said auditor, and also a detailed statement of the amount of relief furnished during the preceding year, with the names of all persons to whom such relief shall have been furnished, together with a brief statement in each case from the relief committee upon whose recommendations the orders were drawn."

Section 4 reads as follows:

"Sec. 4. That Section 8917 of Remington & Ballinger's Code be amended to read as follows:

Section 8917. The county commissioners may require of the commander and quartermaster of any post of the Grand Army of the Republic, camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, undertaking to distribute relief under this act a bond with sufficient and satisfactory sureties for the faithful and honest discharge of their duties under this act."

These Sections 2, 3 and 4 are identical with Sections 8915, 8916 and 8917 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington, except that in the first line of Section 8915, and in the second line of Section 8916, and in the second line of Section 8917, between the clause "Grand Army of the Republic" and "Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans" the disjunctive "or" is omitted. The existing statute is of better grammatical construction, and should not be amended. This condition was undoubtedly brought about by striking the new matter in these three sections of House Bill No. 42, without observing that the deleted matter, represented in the printed bill by the asterisks or stars, consisted only of the word "or." As a matter of fact, the striking of that new matter should have been the striking of the three sections.

The omission of Sections 2, 3 and 4 from the bill in no way affects its meaning or status. For the objections above noted, Sections 2, 3 and 4 of House Bill No. 42, and each of them, are vetoed. The remainder of the bill is approved.

Respectfully submitted.

(Signed) LOUIS F. HART,
Acting Governor.

The Clerk read Section 2 of House Bill No. 42 as follows:

Not that I am opposed to the idea of trying to solve by just legislation the present conflict or dispute between labor and capital, but on the contrary, I am and have been ready at all times during this session to approach this question honestly, fearlessly and courageously in the attempt to work out and pass a fair and just law, not only to labor and capital but to the general public as well on this most important question; in short, to make an honest attempt to deal with this subject at this session. A number of bills have been introduced in the House and Senate along these lines and it is the duty of this Legislature to pass some law; the public demands it, and the appointment of a commission to investigate and report to a future legislature, is side-stepping the question—an old legislative trick—to prevent the consideration and an honest effort to solve the question at this session."

"Sec. 2. No restraining order or injunction shall be granted by any court of this state, or any judge or judges thereof in any case between an employer and employee or between employer and employees or between employees or between persons employed and persons seeking employment involving or growing out of a dispute concerning terms or conditions of employment, unless necessary to prevent irreparable damage to property or to a personal right or to a property right of the party making the application, for which injury there is no adequate remedy at law, and such petition must be in writing describing such damage or injury feared by the applicant, and sworn to by the applicant or his agent or attorney. No such restraining order or injunction shall prohibit any such person or persons, whether singly or in concert, from terminating any relation of employment or from ceasing to perform any work or labor; or from paying or giving to, or withholding from any person engaged in such dispute, any strike benefits or other moneys or things of value; or from doing any act or thing which might lawfully be done in the absence of such dispute by any party thereto; nor shall any of the acts specified in this section be considered or held to be illegal or unlawful in any court of the state.

"Sec. 3. The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce, and the right to enter into the relation of employer and employee or to change that relation except in violation of contract is a legal right. In all cases involving the violation of the contract of employment, either by the employee or employer where no irreparable damage is about to be done to the property, personal rights or property rights of either, no injunction shall be granted, but the parties shall be left to their remedy at law.

"Sec. 4. No person shall be indicted, prosecuted, or tried in any court of this state for entering into or carrying on any lawful arrangement, agreement, or combination between themselves made with a view of lessening the number of hours of labor or increasing wages or bettering the conditions of working men and women, or for any lawful act done in pursuance thereof."

On motion of Mr. Reed, the previous question was ordered.

Immediately prior to the calling of the roll, Mr. Grass sent to the desk, to be spread upon the journal, the following explanation of his vote:

"I have fought this bill and voted against it on final passage because the bill was introduced and presented to the Rules Committee more than two weeks ago and an attempt was then made to place it on the calendar although the bill was not even printed. The Rules Committee as a body refused to place the bill on the calendar. Since then I have never been permitted to participate in the deliberations upon this measure until Sunday afternoon when I was hurriedly asked to join in a conference upon the substitute measure. The conference was divided. A committee was appointed to redraft a substitute bill. The bill was drafted but never presented to myself or any member outside the informal committee until 11:00 o'clock a. m., March 10, and the House was then asked to pass upon this important measure without being given any chance for a deliberate consideration of the new bill.

"The proponent of the bill announced that as it now stands it is merely declaratory of the common law. I offered an amendment to that effect which the Speaker declared voted down. At no time prior to yesterday was I ever permitted to participate in the deliberations upon this bill. This bill was presented to the House and passed within one hour after its first appearance in such printed form that the members of the House might know what it contained.

"A self-constituted and unofficial committee took the matter in charge and at no time gave everyone interested in the matter a hearing. The House members were never given a chance to really consider the bill. No argument was allowed on final passage. I therefore voted against the same.

"Dated March 10, 1919.

ROBERT GRASS."

The Clerk called the roll and House Bill No. 283 passed the House by the following vote:

Those voting yea were: Representatives Adams (Wm. H.), Adamson, Allen, Anderson (John), Babcock, Banker, Bassett, Bohlke, Brown, Conner, Coon, Cotterill, Davis, Dollar, Fawley, Fulton, Gardner, Gellatly, Gilbert, Girard, Gleason, Guie, Harrison, Haskell, Healey, Hodgdon, Hoff, Hubbell, Hufford, Hull, Jones (James T.), Kelly, Kennedy, Kulzer, Ledgerwood, Locke, Long, Lucas, Lunn, Manogue, Mansfield, McCoy, Mess, Moores, Morris, Myers, Nash, Nelson, Norman, Olsen, Pease, Reed, Sawyer, Shattuck, Shields, Short, Siler, Smith (Fred A.), Smith (Maurice), Stratton, Swofford, Teter, Thomas, Thompson (G. MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE.

SENATE CHAMBER,
OLYMPIA, WASH., March 10, 1919.

MR. SPEAKER:

The Senate has passed Senate Bill No. 269, as amended;

Also, Senate Bill No. 208;

Also, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 209.

And the same are herewith transmitted.

VICTOR ZEDNICK,
Secretary of the Senate.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

OLYMPIA, WASH., March 10, 1919.

To the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives:

We, your committee appointed to investigate the conduct and management of the Mountain View Sanatorium at Lakeview, Pierce county, Washington, beg to submit the following:

The committee visited the institution on February 20, 1919, and found the premises to be neat and clean, and having the appearance of being well kept at all times.

We examined into the food furnished to the institution and found it to be wholesome and apparently of sufficient quantity and, while it is true that some of the patients complained about there being too much sameness of the food, upon taking this question up with the superintendent, Dr. Quevli, and the county commissioners, they assured us that they were endeavoring to secure a dietician and a diet kitchen, neither of which they have ever had at the institution, and we believe that this objection will be overcome by this improvement.

We went through the institution and examined pretty much all of the beds and found them to be clean and comfortable and most of the patients satisfied, and we have made allowances for the fact that with forty-five patients with a disease such as tuberculosis, it would be almost impossible to have them all satisfied.

There was some complaint from the patients about there being insufficient eggs and milk for the past three or four months, and an examination of the bills for eggs furnished the institution bears out that there was some cause for this complaint although each witness testified as to the generosity of the county commissioners in furnishing supplies, and to the fact that nothing had ever been refused the institution by them, and Dr. Quevli, the superintendent, testified under oath that he had given orders that the patients were to have all the eggs and milk they could eat. This complaint was primarily the cause of the calling of this investigation, and from the testimony, it had been taken care of before the investigation was called.

We are of the opinion that there cannot be too much credit given Dr. Quevli for the conduct of the institution, as he no doubt made a great sacrifice in accepting the superintendency and management of this institution while the war was on and it was impossible to secure a house physician, and at the same time Dr. Quevli was serving at Camp Lewis as a tuberculosis specialist, in addition to his regular practice. Dr. Quevli and the county commissioners have assured us that they are doing their utmost to secure a house physician, and they believe that they may be able to secure a good physician now that the war is over.

We think now with the additional state aid, and as it has been shown that the county commissioners are very liberal with the institution, and the further fact that up to this time the state board of health has not made the examinations which they should have made of this institution, but which in the future we believe they will do, we can see no reason why there should be any serious complaints in the future as to the management of this institution.

Respectfully submitted.

W. FAIRCHILD, Chairman.

W. LON JOHNSON.

R. F. GLEASON.

J. B. GILBERT.

E. J. CANTONWINE.

"Section 10. The board shall examine from time to time the courses of study of and the work done by the various law schools, whether within or without the state, and determine what schools shall be deemed approved law schools as specified in this act: Provided, No school shall be so approved unless the board shall determine that such school is at least equal in student qualification and hours of work required to that of the University of Washington school of law, or to that required by the American Association of Law Schools. All applicants who have completed the course in an approved law school within this state with a record of excellent work done, or who have grades equal to or above such standard as may be set by the board, may, in the board's discretion, be recommended for admission without further examination. * * * The board shall fix the credits of time that shall be allowed for study in any other than an approved law school, or for study in an approved law school less than a full course, or for office study or other method that may be pursued, before an applicant may be admitted to an examination, with a view of equalizing as nearly as practicable the different methods of qualifying the applicant for the practice of the law and the intelligent handling of business of clients and of the public generally.

"Sec. 3. That Section 11 of Chapter 115 of the Laws of 1917 be amended to read as follows:

"Section 11. The board shall provide for a registration of students other than those in approved law schools and shall outline a course of study for such students,

"Section 12. Upon successfully passing a final examination * * * the applicant's name shall be certified to the supreme court for a permanent certificate, which court, unless objections be raised thereto or if raised and the court find same to be insufficient, shall issue a certificate admitting the applicant to practice at the bar of the courts for the State of Washington. An applicant on an accredited certificate from another state shall, upon approval of his application, be admitted temporarily for one year, at the end of which time, the board being satisfied that such applicant is of good moral character and a proper person to practice law in this state, shall, if requested, certify his name to the supreme court for a permanent certificate, which court, unless objection be raised thereto, or if raised and the court shall find the same to be insufficient, shall issue a permanent certificate.

"Sec. 5. That Chapter 115 of the Laws of 1917 be amended by adding thereto after Section 12 a new section to be known as Section 12½, as follows:

"Section 12½. The clerk of the supreme court, ex-officio secretary of the board, shall immediately after the taking effect of this act certify to the supreme court the names of all prior applicants for admission to the bar who have successfully passed the final examination and who hold certificates as law clerks, and the supreme court shall upon such certification, unless objection be raised thereto or if raised and found to be insufficient, issue a permanent certificate which will entitle the holder of such certificate to immediately begin the practice of the law at the bar of the courts of the State of Washington.

"Sec. 6. That Section 17 of Chapter 115 of the Laws of 1917 be amended to read as follows:

"Section 17. The board shall enforce all the laws and ethics relating to the duties of attorneys, or other persons practicing or claiming the right to practice law * * * within this state. All complaints alleging acts of immoral or unprofessional conduct, or conduct in violation of the purpose and spirit of this act shall be filed with the board by any person knowing of such acts or conduct, or by the board itself upon its own motion. Upon the presentation of such complaint if deemed by the board sufficient a notice shall be sent to the person complained of, giving the time and place for such hearing, at which time and place such hearing shall be conducted. The board may continue or adjourn such hearing from time to time and may delegate the taking of testimony or the making of any investigation to any one or more members of the board.

"Sec. 7. That Section 18 of Chapter 115 of the Laws of 1917 be amended to read as follows:

"Section 18. For the purposes of this act the board or any member thereof shall have the power to issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses or the production of books or documents. Such subpoenas shall be served in the manner of serving subpoenas in civil cases in the superior courts of this state and the person so served shall comply with the requirements of such subpoena. The defendant shall be allowed the usual defenses and the issuance of such subpoenas as he may desire and as the board or member or members conducting such hearing may deem necessary. Witnesses shall testify under oath, which oath may be administered by any member of the board, and testimony shall be taken in writing or by deposition under such rules as the board may provide. The prosecuting attorney of the county in which the defendant resides shall assist the board in the conduct of its hearings, or the board may request the Attorney General to assist in such hearings, and when so requested it shall be his duty to so assist. When feasible the court reporter or stenographers authorized to report the proceedings in courts within the county where the defendant resides shall be the reporter for hearings conducted by the board, or the members thereof, as in this act provided; and such county, upon the approval by the court or presiding judge thereof, shall be liable for the witness and stenographer fees and other like expenses incurred in the conduct of such hearings. The board shall make findings upon the evidence produced, and shall, if deemed justified, suspend or annul the license of such person to practice law. * * * If the board shall find that the person complained of has no lawful license issued by the authority of this state it shall report the same to the prosecuting attorney of the county where the party complained of resides and it shall be the duty of such prosecuting attorney to file an information and to prosecute the same against such accused."

That the title be amended by striking out everything after the word "law" in the title, and inserting in lieu thereof the words "amending Sections 1, 10, 11, 12, 17 and 18 of Chapter 115 of the Laws of 1917, and adding thereto a new section to be known as Section 12½."

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR.
OLYMPIA, March 11, 1919.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the State of Washington:

My attention has just been called to the fact that at the time the National Guard of Washington was merged into federal service, there were a large number of members of the National Guard of this state to whom the state was indebted in various sums ranging from $16.00 down, as service pay.

Under the provisions of Section 7224 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington, it is provided: "That claims for such additional pay shall not be valid unless filed with the adjutant general within twelve months from the date of discharge." Your attention is also called to the fact that many of these soldiers were transferred to other parts, and were not permitted to disclose their whereabouts for several months. Now that the soldiers are returning they are desirous of receiving the service pay due them from the state, and ought to have it, but the adjutant general's office appears to be powerless under the provisions of the statute above quoted.

May I suggest that in all fairness to the returned soldiers, formerly of the National Guard of Washington, and in justice to the good name of our state, that before your final adjournment an emergency bill be passed, under Section 36 of Article 2 of the Constitution, amending the section of this statute above cited.

Very respectfully,

LOUIS F. HART,
Acting Governor.

On motion of Mr. Reed, the message was referred to the Committee on Rules and Order.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF GOVERNOR.
OLYMPIA, March 13, 1919.

To the Honorable, the Senate and the House of Representatives of the State of Washington:

I desire to take this opportunity, during the closing hours of the sixteenth biennial session of your Honorable Body, to express to you my sincere appreciation of the kindness and thoughtfulness you have shown me during my illness. I have been deeply touched by your consideration of me.

I had hoped that I might be able to work with you in connection with the great problems you have faced and acted upon during your session. Unfortunately, my physical condition has rendered this impossible. I wish to say, however, that I am deeply grateful for your favorable action on so many of the recommendations which I made to you in my message delivered at the opening of your session, and I trust and feel that the results of the deliberations of your Honorable Body will be of real and lasting benefit to the state.

I also desire to express in this public way my deep gratitude to Lieutenant and Acting Governor Louis F. Hart, who has accepted and carried out the great responsibility placed upon him in a most loyal and liberal spirit. The public officials have responded so cordially to the additional calls made upon them as a result of my inability to assume the responsibilities of the office of chief executive, that I am sure material assistance has been rendered your Honorable Body in its work.

I feel that I would, indeed, be ungrateful if I failed to send you this expression of the deep appreciation I feel for the constant and uniform kindness you have extended to me. My hope is that I may quickly recover my health so that I may, in some small way at least, repay you by the added effort such recovery will make possible in the discharge of the responsibility I carry for the state and its people.

Sincerely yours,

ERNEST LISTER, Governor.

Acting Governor Hart then addressed the Joint Session.

On motion of Mr. Reed, the address of the Acting Governor was ordered spread upon the journal of the House and Senate.

ACTING GOVERNOR HART: Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the House and of the Senate:

I only desire to take advantage of your presence in joint assembly to express to you my grateful appreciation, my heartfelt thanks to you as a Legislature, and to each of you as individuals, for your evercontinued kindnesses and charity shown to me. The last thirty days have not been days of my choosing; the work has been that that I would have preferred to have been performed by another, but by the kindness and charity of the people of the state, through the inscrutable powers that be in the affliction of the Chief Executive, together with the requirements of the Constitution of this state, which as Lieutenant Governor I swore to uphold, has brought upon me duties that I would had been performed by the Chief Executive. Attempting at all times to be fair to you, honest with the people and true to Governor Lister, I have done things that perhaps he might not have done, and possibly some things that, had I been free, I might have done otherwise, but as to those I have no apologies to make. I have done what I believed the people of this state would have me do in trying as far as possible to carry out the policies that Governor Lister would have carried out had his health permitted. Again, for your individual kindness, forbearance and charity I thank you, and ask a continuance of your co-operation so long as it may be my duty to preside as Chief Executive of the state, and beg to assure you that your personal friendship will be among the brightest jewels of my life.

At 11:20 a. m., on motion of Senator Taylor, the joint assembly dissolved.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE STATE AUDITOR.

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON, OFFICE OF STATE AUDITOR.
OLYMPIA, March 13, 1919.

Hon. Fred A. Adams, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Olympia, Washington.

DEAR SIR: Early in the session your Honorable Body refused to excuse Representative Alfred E. Miller of the Forty-first District from attendance on your sessions. However, the payrolls that have been submitted to this office contain his name and the same compensation as has been certified for other members of the House. Section 23 of the Constitution reads as follows:

"Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services $5.00 for each day's attendance during the session."

Kindly instruct me as to the disposition of the warrants drawn in favor of Mr. Miller in accordance with the payrolls, and oblige,

Yours respectfully,

C. W. CLAUSEN, State Auditor.

MR. THOMAS: Mr. Speaker and Members of the House: As I understand this communication, it means $5.00 per day for services rendered. Now, I could not vote to grant Mr. Miller pay while he has not attended the session since the day further leave of absence was refused. It is rather hard for a labor representative to vote against granting Mr. Miller compensation for the full sixty days' session, but I am going to vote that way because I do not believe he is entitled to it. I move that Mr. Miller be granted compensation up to the time that he was refused further leave of absence from the House.

Mr. Conner seconded the motion.

MR. ALLEN: As an amendment to that motion, I move that the state auditor be instructed to cancel Mr. Miller's warrants issued after further leave of absence was refused.

Mr. Thomas and his second accepted the amendment.

The motion as amended was carried.

The Speaker instructed the Chief Clerk of the House to notify the State Auditor of the action taken by the House.

"Section 9112. All property shall be assessed * * * fifty per cent of its true and fair value in money. In determining the true and fair value of real or personal property, the assessor shall not adopt a lower or different standard of value because the same is to serve as a basis of taxation; nor shall he adopt as a criterion of value the price for which the said property would sell at auction, or at a forced sale, or in the aggregate with all the property in the town or district; but he shall value each article or description of property by itself, and at such time or price as he believes the same to be fairly worth in money at the time such assessment is made. The true cash value of property shall be that value at which the property would be taken in payment of a just debt from a solvent debtor. In assessing any tract or lot of real property, the value of the land, exclusive of improvements, shall be determined; also, the value of all improvements and structures thereon and the aggregate value of the property, including all structures and other improvements, excluding the value of crops growing on cultivated lands. In valuing any real property on which there is a coal or other mine, or stone or other quarry, the same shall be valued at such price as such property, including the mine or quarry, would sell at a fair, voluntary sale for cash. Taxable leasehold estates shall be valued at such a price as they would bring at a fair, voluntary sale for cash."

OF THE HOUSE—ROSTER OF THE HOUSE
MEMBERS—STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE HOUSE—INDEX TO HOUSE RULES

JOINT RULES OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

CONFERENCE AND FREE CONFERENCE, COMMITTEES ON.

RULE 1. In every case of an amendment of a bill or joint or concurrent resolution, agreed to in one house, dissented from in the other and not receded from by the one making the same, such house shall appoint a committee to confer with a like committee to be appointed by the other, and the committees so appointed shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by their respective chairmen, and shall confer upon the differences between the two houses as indicated by the amendment made in one and rejected in the other, and report as early as convenient the result of their conference to their respective houses. If after such a report the two houses shall disagree upon the recommendations of the reporting committees as to their differences between the two houses, a committee of free conference shall be appointed, to whom the whole subject matter embraced in the bill or resolution shall be committed, and the committee of free conference may report by new bill or resolution, or otherwise, and bills or resolutions so reported shall be treated as amendments, unless such bills or resolutions are comprised entirely of original matter, in which case they shall receive the treatment required in the respective houses for original bills or resolutions, as the case may be.

MESSAGES.

RULE 2. Messages from the Senate to the House of Representatives shall be delivered by the secretary or assistant secretary, and messages from the House of Representatives to the Senate shall be delivered by the chief clerk or assistant clerk, who shall be announced by the doorkeeper, enter within the bar, announce or deliver his message.

BILLS; FINAL ACTION ON, HOW COMMUNICATED.

RULE 3. Each house shall communicate its final action on any bill or resolution, or matter in which the other may be interested, in writing, signed by the secretary or clerk of the house from which such notice is sent.

ENROLLED BILLS.

RULE 4. After a bill shall have passed both houses, it shall be duly enrolled by the enrolling clerk of the house in which it originated, and it shall be examined by the enrolling committee of such house, who shall carefully compare the enrollment with the engrossed bill as passed, correcting any errors that may be discovered in the enrolled bill, after which the bill shall be signed by the presiding officer, in open session, of each house, first in the house in which it originated; whereupon, the secretary of the Senate, or the chief clerk of the House, shall present the same to the governor, taking his receipt therefor.

GENERAL BUDGET.

RULE 5. No amendment to the general appropriation bill, commonly known as the budget, adding any new item or items thereto not incorporated in the bill as reported by the committee on appropriations, shall be adopted, except by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each house.

DOCUMENTS TO BE TRANSMITTED WITH BILLS.

RULE 6. Each house shall transmit to the other all documents on which any bill or resolution may be founded.

VETOED BILLS.

RULE 7. The veto message of the governor, accompanying any bill passed by the Legislature, shall, together with the bill vetoes, be read in the house in which it originated. It shall then be in order to proceed to the reconsideration of the bill, or to postpone its consideration to a day certain. A veto message and a bill, or the message alone, may be referred and the bill laid on the table. The main question in the consideration of the vetoed bill is, "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto of the governor?" If two-thirds of the members present vote "Aye," the bill shall be sent to the other house, together with the message of the governor, for its action. The merits of the bill may be debated before the vote is taken, but the vote on a vetoed bill cannot be reconsidered. In case of a bill containing several sections or items, one or more of which has been objected to by the governor, while approving other sections or items, each section or item so objected to shall be separately voted upon by each house.

JOINT RESOLUTIONS.

Joint resolutions and memorials addressed to Congress, or either house thereof, or to the president of the United States, or to the head of any of the national departments, or proposing amendments to the State Constitution, up to and including the signing thereof by the presiding officer of each house, shall be treated in all respects as bills.

PRINTING AUTHORITY OF JOINT COMMITTEE.

RULE 9. The standing committees on printing of the two houses shall be a joint standing committee, who shall examine all matters proposed to be printed by concurrent order, and shall report what part of such matter is needful to print, but no other printing shall be ordered except by a concurrent resolution passed by both houses. It shall be the duty of the secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the House to compare the bills introduced in each house before printing, and such bills as are introduced in both houses and are of the same wording shall only be printed in one house.

Those in the affirmative on the question shall rise in their seats, and the number being announced, those in the negative shall rise.

The question is not debatable and cannot be amended. The previous question shall be put in this form: "Mr.....demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No.' "

The results of the motion are as follows:

If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative, the presiding officer at once and without debate, proceeds to put the amendment or motion as ordered. If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the subject comes up the first thing after the reading of the journal the next day, and the previous question still operates, making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

DIVISION OF QUESTIONS.

RULE 36. A division cannot be demanded as a right by any member. It must be made pursuant to a motion stating precisely the division asked for, which motion can be amended. The presiding officer can decide, subject to an appeal to the House, that the division proposed cannot be made. Otherwise it is submitted to the House and decided by it.

PROCEDURE ON BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS.

RULE 37. Any member desiring to introduce a bill or resolution shall file the same with the chief clerk not less than 12 hours before the convening of the session, which shall be numbered and read in the order filed. After the fortieth day of the session no bill shall be introduced.

RULE 38. Bills introduced in the House, intended to amend existing statutes, shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statutes underlined in the original and printed bills. Any matter omitted in the existing statutes shall be indicated by not less than four stars or asterisks, with spaces of not less than two ems, and no bill shall be printed or acted upon until the provisions of this rule shall have been complied with.

RULE 39. Every bill shall be read on three several days unless the House deem it expedient to suspend this rule. The first reading shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full. All bills shall be printed unless otherwise ordered by the House, and be referred to committee after first reading. Bills shall pass to second reading when reported back by the committee, unless there shall be an unanimous report against a bill, in which case the vote shall be immediately called for, upon the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Each amendment made by a committee to a bill shall be in writing on a separate slip of paper, and shall be pasted to the original bill. The report of the committee shall also contain a statement of the amendments agreed to by the committee, together with two additional copies attached with a clip. Any committee report on a bill not conforming with this rule shall be returned by the chief clerk of the House to the committee for a compliance with this rule without further order by the House. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section in full; and be subject to amendment. No amendment shall be considered by the House until it shall have been sent to the desk in writing and read by the clerk. All amendments adopted on the second reading shall be securely pasted to the original bill.

Amendments rejected by the House shall be passed to the minute clerk, and the journal shall show the disposition of such amendments. When no further amendments shall be offered, the speaker shall declare the bill has passed its second reading. The bill, with the amendments, if there be any attached thereto, shall be sent to the committee on engrossed bills, which committee shall see that all amendments are properly engrossed upon the original bill, and the bill returned to the chief clerk before the opening of the House on the next succeeding day, and the bill shall then come up in the regular order for a third reading. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections. The only question on the third reading of a bill shall be upon its passage, and no amendment shall be entertained. No bill introduced "by request" shall be printed until the committee to which said bill has been referred has acted and reported upon the same.

RULE 40. A bill may be advanced, or placed on the calendar by an affirmative vote of a majority of all members present voting in the affirmative; and the question shall be, "Shall the bill be advanced or placed on the calendar?"

RULE 41. When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the clerk, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage at the foot thereof.

RULE 42. On the final passage of every bill, the yeas and nays shall be taken and entered upon the journal.

RULE 43. No engrossed bill, memorial or joint resolution shall be sent to the Senate until one day after its passage, without special instructions by the House.

RULE 44. That in the event of a committee having a number of bills on the same subject, of which none can be agreed upon by the committee, and it is their wish to present a different bill upon the same subject, such bill must be reported to the House and accepted before any of the other bills can be recommended for indefinite postponement.

AMENDMENTS AND RECOMMITMENT.

RULE 45. No motion or proposition on a subject shall be admitted under color of amendment, if different from that under consideration. No bill or resolution shall at any time be amended by annexing thereto or incorporating any bill or resolution pending before the House. (See also Procedure on Bills.)

RULE 46. No amendment shall be received to a bill on its third reading, but it may be referred or recommitted for the purpose of amendment. A bill may be re-committed at any time before its passage.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS AND RESOLUTIONS.

RULE 47. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House may be presented by the speaker or any member, and shall not be debated or decided on the day of their being first read unless the house shall direct otherwise, but they may be referred to the committee having the subject-matter thereof under consideration, or may lie on the table, or be taken up in the order in which they are presented.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

RULE 48. In forming a committee of the whole House the speaker having the chair shall call upon some member to preside, who shall be addressed as "Mr. Chairman."

RULE 49. Upon a bill committed to a committee of the whole House, the bill shall be read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments (noting the line and page) shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After a report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses before a question to engross it be taken.

RULE 50. The rules of proceedings in the House shall be observed in a committee of the whole House so far as they may be applicable, but no member shall be recognized a second time until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.
